An expert says poodles and other lap dogs "go mad" often than dogs that take more exercise. Another expert, friendly to poodles, says that isn't so. One thing is certain, human poodles, petted and pampered by inherited money, go mad, or lose their balance much more quickly than those that work for a living. See the divorce and "high class" crime news in your daily newspapers.

Russia's soviet government will sell the collection of royal jewels that once belonged to the czars, from Peter the Great down to the last poor victim.

Money from diamonds, rubles, pearls, will be used to buy American plows for Russian peasants.

You deplore and condemn what bolshevism did to those Romanoffs, weak and worthless as they were, at the end, but you can't help approving the disposition of the Romanoff jewelry. Beating swords into ploughshares does not compare with changing crowns and necklaces into plows for peasants.

Luther Burbank in a San Francisco pulpit gives more information concerning his views on a supreme being. He says he is an infidel, but believes in God. Of course he doesn't know that he is an infidel, and he can't tell whether he believes in God or not. "Belief" is a word used commonly to describe a mental habit.

As to the existence of a supreme being, the belief of individuals, from Thales to the Mahatma Gandhi, is about as important as the beliefs of so many hoodlums speculating on the nature, power and purposes of a passing airplane. We don't even know positively that we exist, and haven't the vaguest idea how or why we exist. Our abstract speculations are foolish, but we can't help trying.

Dr. Vandenberg of Leyden university hunts for double stars in the southern hemisphere, residence of the southern cross.

Using the telescope at Johannesburg, he has found 180 new double stars, each two gigantic suns revolving around each other.

And he finds other stars in the depths of the sky, strange as fish in the depths of the ocean.

Consider Tucani Beta, a star shining near the south pole, made up of six suns revolving around one another in complicated fashion.

This is a wonderful universe, and you need not be surprised that its management puzzles even Luther Burbank.

Ramon Franco, able and daring Spaniard, has finished his flight across the Atlantic ocean from Spain to Pernambuco. His next hop will be from Pernambuco to Rio de Janeiro, in Brazil, and the next to Buenos Aires.

This should interest our noble, well-meaning navy department, which made a 100 per cent failure in the effort to fly from California to Hawaii, with the help of three planes, especially.

Clean Your Own Clothes

Why pay a cleaner to remove spots from your clothing when you can easily do it yourself at home?

The one important factor in this work is the use of the proper method for the particular stain you wish to eradicate.

This knowledge can be obtained by consulting an authoritative booklet issued by the Department of Agriculture which tells how to remove 88 different kinds of stains from clothing.

Our Washington Information Bureau will secure a free copy of this publication for anyone who sends two cents in stamps to pay the return postage. Be sure to write your name and address clearly on the lines of the coupon.

U. S. SKEPTICAL AS WORLD MEET IS POSTPONED

Disarmament Parley, Set for Feb. 15, is Delayed.

FRANCE BLAMED

No Assurance That Conference Will be Held in March.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Official postponement of the first session of the league of nations' disarmament conference, originally set for February 15, was followed here today by a distinct feeling of skepticism toward the whole project.

The fact that the powers have failed to set definite date for the meeting, following the abandonment of February 15, has served to heighten the doubt concerning the conference that has been felt here from the first.

There have been reports from abroad that the postponement would be only until March 15 or April 15, but according to confidential information reaching Washington there is no more assurance that France and her allies will be ready to gather around the table on those dates than they were in February. Although five nations signed the request for a postponement it really was arranged by France, according to these advices.

France Chooses Easiest Way.

Being unable to consent to a reduction of her armed forces at this time, and unwilling to be put in the position of an obstructionist at the preliminary gathering, France chose the easiest way out and demanded an indefinite postponement, according to the version accepted here.

The American government's attitude toward the postponement is one of solicitous indifference. It neither pro-

Two Ohioans Found Unconscious on Bed In Gas-filled Room

DAYTON, O., Feb. 3.—What is hinted by police as a suicide pact was uncovered by neighbors who heard groans coming from the apartment below her and notified police.

Upon breaking down the door, police found Henry H. Kroma, 40, and Mary Alberta Kernan, 40, lying unconscious upon a bed in the apartment, a gas stove going full tilt, the doors and windows stuffed with paper and the air in the apartment unbreathable.

At the hospitals where they were taken it was said that their condition is critical.

They had been in the apartment since Saturday.

Tickets for the affair may be obtained from Mrs. H. Dan Smith, McKinnon avenue.

Norris to attack the bill as a two-party political measure.

"I hope senators will vote according to the dictates of their conscience and not because their parties are calling upon them," said Norris. "I hope senators won't place a halter around their necks when they vote on this bill. I am surprised at the indirect attempt here to line up both major parties because a bi-partisan agreement was made in the committee room and the leaders want that agreement carried out."

Opposition to the committee's schedule revealed that it would give the greatest percentage of reduction to incomes above $100,000. The committee's surtaxes, it was pointed out, would give a 2% per cent reduction in taxes on incomes over $100,000, a 17 per cent

All danger of an Ohio river flood passed today.

The rising waters reached a crest of 18.6 feet at dam No. 8 last night. For three hours the river remained stationary and then the water began to recede slowly. At noon it was reported to be falling at the rate of one tenth of a foot every three hours.

Rivermen said that there was no likelihood of a flood unless rain continued in the Allegheny mountain watershed. Snow was falling in eastern Pennsylvania today.

The river was virtually clear of ice today.

CHILD'S DRESS IS SET AFIRE AS SHE PLAYS WITH MATCHES

Daughter of Rageb Abdalla, Wellsville, is Victim.

SEVEN YEARS OLD

Body Burned to Crisp From Knees to Neck.

Burned almost to a crisp from her knees to her neck when her dress ignited while playing with matches, Elizabeth R. Abdalla, seven years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rageb Abdalla, Syrians, of Main street, Wellsville, died last night at 11:30 o'clock at her home, after suffering for four hours.

Burned Matches on Floor

The youngster was found shortly after 7 o'clock at the top of the stairs leading to the second floor of the Abdalla home by Mrs. Abdalla and an uncle, John.

Her clothing had been burned from her body. Several charred match sticks on the floor led to the supposition that the child had climbed to a cupboard and procured the matches in the absence of her parents.

Mrs. Abdalla, on the first floor, detected the odor of smoke. Believing that the house was afire she summoned John Abdalla and the two began an investigation which culminated in the discovery of the child's body on the second floor.

Child Had Been Ill

Dr. J. S. McCullough was summoned and later the MacLean ambulance was called, but the child's condition was such that it was decided not to take her to the hospital.

For about five years the youngster had been a patient in a Pittsburgh hospital, suffering from infantile paralysis. Only a year ago she was removed to her home here.

The body was taken today to 315 Main street. Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in the Immaculate Conception church. Burial will be made in St. Elizabeth cemetery.

MICHAEL RYAN, AGED 57, DIES

Funeral Services Probably will be Held Saturday.

Michael Vincent Ryan, 57, retired business man, died at 7:30 this morning in his home, 467 St. Clair avenue, following a long illness of complication of diseases.

Mr. Ryan, who was born in East Liverpool, was formerly a potter, but for more than 30 years conducted a confectionery store in St. Clair avenue. Four years ago he disposed of the business.

He was a member of Carroll council No. 509, Knights of Columbus, Buckeye club and the St. Aloysius Catholic church.

He is survived by one brother, John M. Ryan, local contractor, and a sister, Mrs. Margaret Pryor.

Funeral services probably will be held at 9 o'clock Saturday morning in St. Aloysius church, in charge of Rev. Thomas E. Walsh. Burial will be made in St. Aloysius cemetery.

REVISION OF RATES APPLYING TO INCOMES EXCEEDING $100,000 DEMANDED IN TAX SLASH FIGHT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The bi-partisan drive for early passage of the $352,000,000 tax reduction bill faced a stumbling block today in growing opposition against its surtax schedule, which applies to the wealthy taxpayers of America.

Although administration spokesmen and the Democratic leaders who united in sponsoring the Senate finance committee's rates were confident their schedule would be adopted without a change, a belligerent minority of both parties were demanding a revision of the rates applying to incomes above $100,000.

The movement was led by Senators Norris, R., of Nebraska; Cousens, R., of Michigan; Stearns, F.-L., Minnesota; King, D., of Utah, and Walsh, D., of Montana, who charged the bill in its present form would give from two to five times as much comparative relief to the wealthy classes as to the taxpayers of the modern income.

Urge Higher Surtax Rate.

Senators Cousens and King both sponsored amendments raising the maximum surtax rate to 25 percent and increasing the schedule gradually above the $100,000 income bracket. This was in direct conflict to the committee's recommendation and the provision, enacted by the house, fixing the maximum surtax at 20 percent on incomes of $100,000. Both Senator Smoot, R., of Utah, and Senator Simmons, D., of North Carolina, urged adoption of the committee's surtaxes, it was pointed out, would give a 2% per cent reduction in taxes on incomes over $100,000, a 17 per cent reduction on $50,000 incomes, and only a 10 percent reduction on $30,000 incomes.

Bill is Attacked.

In actual cash reductions, the bill itself was attacked on the ground it also would give the greatest amount of relief to the highest brackets. The following table was cited by opponents. Smoot, in explaining the measure:

Proposed Tax Reduction
$10,000. $101.25. $68.75.
$30,000. $177.75. $496.25.
$50,000. $18,658.75. $1218.

The Story of a Girl By ERIC PARKE WHO MARRIED THE MONEY

Not without humor, and a sense of the appropriateness of things, Noble Harwood had elected to attend his Arabian Nights ball as Aladdin.

As an Aladdin, with a wonderful lamp of clinging gold, he had through the material efforts of a highly skilled and generously remunerated corps of genii, created a wonderland within the confines of Harwood House.

The designer, with materials to work with that Arabian caliphs never heard of, had allowed his imagination to run riot, so that the guests as they entered in twos and fours and parties, were bedazzled and awed by the color, the sparkle, the grandeur of it all, and found themselves gazing furtively for adequate adjectives.

The first guests began to arrive about nine. There had been dinner parties in the valley, following festivities during the entire day. But those who were weary, were stimulated by the surroundings into which they walked.

History in Central City began to be dated from the night of the Harwood Ball.

The dancing began at nine-thirty, in the library and the ballroom of Harwood House, which bore no resemblance to their old selves. The designer said, "they looked like the palace of Haroun-al-Raschid in Bagdad, but even a caliph in Haroun's time did not have electric lights. Ten thousand globes glowed and sparkled in the two rooms. Silks streamed down to the floor, seemingly from

One of the Rarest Things in the World.

The normal eye is one of the rarest things in the world today, because almost all eyes have some kind of defect in them. The normal eye has the proper length from the front to the back of the eye and receives clear images of objects without any strain or over-exertion of the delicate muscles in the interior of the eye.

The farsighted eye is shorter than the normal eye. Images of objects are not focused at a sharp point but a blurred image is formed. In order for the farsighted eye to see clearly, the muscles of the eye must work more than usual and this causes eyestrain.

The near-sighted eye is too long and the light focuses before it reaches the retina, in the back of the eye. This condition also requires extra work on the part of the eye muscles and causes strain.

It is easy to understand then, what will happen to the eyes and the general health if the farsighted and near-sighted eyes are not remedied. The extra work that the muscles of the eyes are required to do, to obtain clear images, causes a small defect to become larger and may cause a general debility.

Then is it not good logic to have your eyes — and especially your children's eyes, examined at the first sign of an eye defect? Most emphatically — YES!

anything like this in her behalf. She found herself, against her will, tralling Laurel. She had an insatiable desire to watch every moment of her successor; and every smile bestowed upon Laurel gave her pain.

She heard nothing; ate nothing; she had eyes for no one or anything but Laurel Todd Harwood. Gentlemen, old friends, who approached her and attempted to be cordial, found her frigid, and soon found opportunities to leave her, and go and speak to their wives and companions about it.

While the Folies company was putting on its show before an audience already sated with dancing, food and entertainment, and therefore only courteously appreciative, Marion, her conscience hurting her a little, sought out her mother.

"Isn't it wonderful?"

She was frightened by the gaze Mrs. Harwood turned upon her. Slowly shaking her head, she spoke: "All for her, all for her!" Shaking her finger at her daughter, madness in her eyes, she went on, her voice rising, "All for her. And she doesn't love him. Doesn't care anything about him."

Marion caught hold of her mother as she got up, straining.

"No mother, dear, please." "She is —"

"No, mother, please." She could see the madness in her mother's eyes. Mrs. Harwood, after brooding for weeks, had broken.

"I am —"

Marion, terrified, clung futilely to her mother's costume.

Dodge Brothers' Penetrate Desert Of Central Asia

The Dodge Brothers car, which was the first to penetrate the Gobi Desert of Central Asia with the American Museum of Natural History expedition, has now added another bit of pioneering to its record by being the first automobile to enter the Kalahari desert in South Africa. The exploit is revealed in the following article from "The Cape Argus" of Cape Town, South Africa:

"Mr. C. H. Douglas, chief engineer of the Kalahari Expedition, returned to Pretoria today (Oct. 31). The expedition, he said, penetrated the desert for a distance of 300 miles. West and south of Livingston the country is very uniform, and the vegetation very similar. All the roads follow the courses of the rivers until the tsetse fly area is reached where the roads become nothing more than ill-defined tracks.

"The tsetse fly was more prevalent in areas where game abounded and appeared to follow the game. Despite the association of sleeping sickness with the tsetse fly, that disease was not prevalent in the area traversed by the expedition.

"A number of native tribes were encountered, and they were all of a friendly and peaceful disposition. Every variety of game was encountered, including elephants, giraffes and zebras.

"The expedition had no difficulty with transport, and the large Dodge Brothers screened car penetrated into regions where no mechanical transport had ever before been used. One of the achievements of this lorry was the traversing of a sand ridge.

"The expedition kept in touch with civilization by wireless, and they enjoyed concerts broadcast from the Johannesburg, Cape Town and Durban stations almost every evening."

Q. Is there opium in lettuce? T. E. C.
A. Lettuce belongs to the poppy family, but the amount of opium in lettuce is not appreciable. No amount of lettuce would produce drowsiness.

Q. How many Spiritualists are there in this country? W. M. S.

A. The National Spiritualist Association reports in the United States a membership of about 600,000.

Q. How many prizes were given at one time in the Louisiana lottery? C. G. B.

A. As the scheme was finally arranged, there were 3,434 prizes at each drawing.

Q. Where do Labrusca grapes grow? L. V.

A. The distribution of the Labrusca species of grapes is along the Allegheny mountains from New England to South Carolina.

Q. Is alcohol the hottest fuel? T. H. C.

A. It is not the hottest. Oxy-hydrogen and oxy-acetylene are hotter.

Q. Is clean, fresh, melted, snow suitable for use in storage batteries? C. S. A.

A. Rain water or that obtained from melting snow compares with tap water for batteries. Distilled water is far better.

Q. What was the basis for the Billy Mitchell trial? T. W. F.

A. Colonel Mitchell was charged with violating the 96th Article of War: "Though not mentioned in these articles all disorders and neglects to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, all conduct of a nature to bring discredit upon the military service, and all crimes or offenses not capital, of which persons subject to military law may be guilty, shall be taken cognizance of by a general or special or summary court-martial, according to the nature and degree of the offense and punished at the discretion of such court."

Q. When was ostracism introduced into Greece? E. E. C.

A. It was instituted by Cleisthenes about 510 B. C. Aelian says that Cleisthenes was the first to be ostracized.

In 488-487 B. C., Hiparchus was exiled, and a few years later Kanthippos and Aristides were banished in this fashion.

Q. What kind of beans are used for sprouts in chop suey? L. E. O.

A. The bean that is used in making chop suey is the mung bean. In order to sprout these beans place them in a covered jar with a hole broken through the bottom. This jar should be placed on some sort of a support and water poured in it every morning and evening. In ordinary summer weather with this treatment the sprouts are large enough to use in about one-half week's time.

Q. When was the "big wind" in Ireland? T. R. B.

A. The big wind occurred in Ireland on the night of January 6, 1839. In Limerick, Galway, and Athlone, hundreds of houses were blown down and hundreds more were burned by the spreading fires from those blown down. It is called the "big wind" because it is the worst of its kind known to the people of Ireland.

Q. If "U" was made like "V" in the old alphabet, how was "V" made? L. P.

A. In the Latin alphabet, the vowel "U" (oo) and the consonant "U" (W or V) were both represented by the capital "V", and not until late in the 16th century was the form "V" restricted to the consonant element.

Q. Which of the Presidents had no children? R. S.

A. The Presidents of the United States who had no children were: Washington, Madison, Jackson, Polk, Buchanan and Harding.

Dr. Cook Again

Dr. Frederick Cook and the famous North Pole controversy have long been considered settled. Now the issue bobs up again. Amundsen, whose integrity nobody has ever impugned, who discovered the South Pole and nearly reached the North Pole by airplane, says he has read the accounts of both men and found them much alike, and about equally convincing. He seems rather to suggest that Cook reached the pole than that Peary did not.

Cook naturally takes advantage of that statement, issuing one of his own, in which he says that recent explorations in the Arctic, by MacMillan and Amundsen, have disproved many of Peary's observations.

"I note these facts in review," he says, "with no intention to underrate Peary's worthy efforts, but to indicate that a pioneer working under great difficulties is subject to some inaccuracies in his observations."

"It must be remembered that I was the first to report the physical conditions at the pole, and that all my work since has tended to confirm my reports. Rear Admiral Schley was the first to point out this phase of the rival claims." According to Schley's views, says Cook, either Cook or Peary, or both, reached the same place and described the same conditions.

This controversy will never be settled to everybody's satisfaction. Most people, presumably, will continue to believe that Peary reached the pole and Cook didn't. A large number of Americans, however, especially those who have talked with Cook or heard him speak, are convinced that if Cook never really attained the goal, he thought he did.

In any case, Cook's book on the subject is worth reading, as a work of imagination if not of science. There is a poetic glow in it that is rare in the works of more scientific explorers.

Cheap Wheat Production

It is doubtless true that many farmers have lost money on wheat in recent years, and are discouraged. But the following statement from a merchant in Dodge City, Kan., printed in the Bulletin of the National City bank of New York, shows another picture.

Wheat acreage is growing with astonishing rapidity in his section, he reports. In the next few years winter wheat will be sown on more than 10,000,000 acres of land still in sod in Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico and Texas. And this almost regardless of wheat prices. How is that possible?

The factor that has effected this situation is the tractor and the combine. Nowhere else on earth can the great bread staple be produced so cheaply. Hindoo coolies, at three cents a day, and Russian semi-serfs with hand labor, cannot compete with a farmer and two boys who, from May to October, with tractor and combine, can grow and harvest five or six hundred acres of wheat, eight to ten thousand bushels, and have time to summer-fallow a portion of their acreage, and as sidelines get their living from a flock of hens, and are raising corn and kaffir, cows and swine, to fall back on. The actual labor cost per wheat bushel certainly is less than 20 cents. The land is still cheap and half of it is still sod.

The tractor development is much slower than the automobile, but the new machines are almost fool proof and of course the farmers are year by year more adept with machinery. Many a man has put out 1,000 acres this fall, and put it out in the very best conditions that ever were known in the southwest.

Now, these facts aren't generally apprehended even by people here. The farmers are finding it out and are picking up the cheap land in the neighborhood so as to give themselves elbow room.

One young fellow reported to me that for five years his costs, with a harvester thresher, averaged less than five cents per bushel, including labor, gas, oil and repairs. The depreciation and interest charges would not add five cents per bushel more.

Kansas is pretty well developed, but even southwest of Dodge, in four or five counties, 250 thousand acres of sod have been broken up this last summer."

This experience may be duplicated on a small scale in various other sections. There is a lot of unproductive land in nearly all of the states that may be made to produce paying crops by applying the same methods, with wheat and other crops. Here is new opportunity for untold thousands of enterprising farmers.

Punishment And Parole

Many prisoners are paroled in the province of Ontario, but apparently with fewer unpleasant results than in this country. The chief executive officer of the Ontario parole board announces that 86 per cent of the criminals so paroled make good and become re-established as honest citizens. Only 14 per cent fail when given a fresh chance at self-respecting freedom.

"For some criminals," says this official, "punishment should be quick and drastic. It has to be both to take effect on them, but for a large number it should be tempered with a sense of consideration. I do not believe it is possible by any means to re-establish all criminals, but many of them can be put back on their feet and made good, law-abiding citizens."

The parole system in this country as well as the whole treatment of criminals has come under strong public disapproval of late, chiefly because there does not appear to be any real discrimination between those who can be re-established and those who need the quick and drastic punishment.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Hard boiled 47th street in the block east of Broadway is the den of a tattered group of happy and luckless youngsters who having been spawned on the pavements are left to shift for themselves. Their costumes are as grotesque as their faces and hands are grimy.

They "Charleston" for pitched pennies, open taxi doors and sell soiled editions of yesterday papers. And at night under lights they gamble for the day's spoils with dice. They are young in years, but old in vice, and prima ladies are often shocked by their gutter language.

Their cast-off clothes and shoes give them a Charlie Chaplin aureole-baggy, ballooning pants, coat tails that flap below the knees and rolled-up sleeves. One shirtless vagabond wears a necktie and another a lidless straw hat through the winter.

They have a carbonated gaiety that always attracts crowds, especially when they gamble. They have the usual New York street urchin's fear of the police and also the gangster's contempt, awaiting until a bluecoat is almost upon them, then scurrying away and thumbing their noses in backward derision.

The two leaders are red-heads. They rule the pack with swift socks on the jaw and in their gambling games display a fairness that is wholesome. Cafe men in the neighborhood say they do not know where they come from or where they sleep.

They appear around noon and are usually there long after midnight. Habitudes of the street say the little nomads of the Roaring Forties never bog. In the late afternoon they often curl up in protecting doorways to refresh themselves with sleep for the night to come.

Their life is whetted to a keenness on the city's flagstones. Robust men have whined over lesser ironies of fate. Like the line in Shelley's "Ode to the West Wind," they are "tameless, and swift and proud." They deserve something better.

A collector has salvaged this from the dead memoirs of an early New York club:

"New fangled glasses were fitted in the club windows, where before there was parchment. There was great to do over the change and one member said he would resign. A few which favor it say that these objectors neglect to powder their wigs, and soap the wine stains off their waist coats, so that they cannot stand the light."

Five female stave stars have exploded in public in temperamental outbursts the past season. One ordered the curtain down in the middle of the act. Such high flings amuse me. And I always think of one of Bernhardt's most tragic moments. She was leaving the room with a dead love and dead hopes and the last despairing gesture was a tightened hand gripping the door jamb as the rest of her had passed from sight. The audience saw her in this attitude one night while the hand was conveying its despairing message. Bernhardt was saying: "Oh, it is that you, Charlie? So glad you came. What a beastly hot evening!"

Raymond Hitchcock said it many years ago and it is true today. Nobody ever gets temperamental with a policeman.

The highest salaried actor during the past season was Jack Buchanan of Charlie's revue, who on a percentage of the gross basis averaged $3,309 a week. Marilyn Miller was the highest paid actress on the same basis, the weekly averaging a bit higher. It does not mean they are the best performers. It means they had good business agents.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Standardization of Gages.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—A saving to American manufacturers of at least one billion dollars of year is promised through the general use of a new key to mass production. This key is the standardization of limit gages which has just been completed and approved by the American Engineering Standards committee.

It will make possible the largest output of goods at the lowest price and of the greatest importance to manufacturers of machinery, vehicles, tools, electrical apparatus, and many other lines of products. When they all use the standard gaging system, parts made by any factory will fit corresponding parts manufactured in any other factory.

The economy of interchangeable parts was a lesson taught by the World War," says Dr. P. G. Agnew, secretary of the committee in announcing the new standard. "It will probably be remembered that one of the triumphs of American manufacturing was the production of parts for machine guns and other arms which were so completely uniform that perfect guns could be assembled from piles of thousands of parts mixed together and without the necessity of any fitting work. This procedure at once established the production of arms on an enormous scale, and yet it will be rigidly attached to each other and will stay so under severe use, as in the case of a locomotive wheel and its tire.

Much technical knowledge and experimentation were required to set up the table of fits, says Dr. Agnew. The clearance of play required between small parts, such as the shaft in a sewing machine and its bearing, is very difficult from that required for parts of a large rock crusher, or a hoisting engine, and careful study was needed to work out a system of allowances that would cover the entire range. This, however, has been accomplished, it is stated, by Colonel Peck's group of experts.

In general, according to the report, a certain fit between two mating parts will be obtained by checking the size of each part by means of two gages, each representing one of the two limits between which the actual size of the part must be kept.

Good and Not-Go Gages.

One of these gages is called the "go gage," while the other one is designated as the "not-go gage." If only those parts are accepted which are shown by these two gages to be correctly machined there will be positive assurance of perfect fitting.

"It is to be hoped that all manufacturers engaged in making products with interchangeable parts will adopt the new standard so that uniform national practice based on the best of knowledge may be reached and maintained," concludes Dr. Agnew. "This will result in enormous savings in labor and material, which will permit production of any given part on the largest possible scale, and will serve the customer directly by permitting quick and certain replacement of worn or broken parts.

"In fact, it has been estimated that the general use of this new key to mass production will mean a saving of at least one billion dollars a year to American manufacturers."

There are two systems of gaging, one known as the bi-lateral and the other as the uni-lateral. The first is based upon individual workmanship, in which the workman in fashioning by hand one part to fit another endeavor to make it within a certain fraction of the required dimension, with a permissible plus or minus variation, or a variation in two directions. The other is based upon mass production and the repetitive process of automatic machinery. In this case the automatic machine is set to one limiting size and then permitted to run, the tool wearing all the time, until the other limiting size is reached, after which the tool must be reset or replaced. Under these conditions the permissible variation is thought of as being in one direction only, hence the name uni-lateral.

By Fontaine Fox

Great Britain, Germany, Austria, Sweden, Switzerland, and other important industrial countries have adopted standards for gaging and machine fits within the last few years, and in each instance there has been a considerable controversy as to whether the bi-lateral or the uni-lateral system should be used.

As indicative of the world trend toward mass production methods it is to be noted that the decision in every case has been in favor of the uni-lateral system.

"Madam Behave," Film At The American, Is Amusing Farce

Al Christie recently set the nation laughing at "Charley's Aunt," thereby disproving the old assertion that the English have no sense of humor, because Charley's Aunt has been an English farce for thirty-four years as Pad-dy's pig is Irish.

Then he turned to one of the greatest American stage farces which was ever written, "Seven Days," for his next feature length comedy strike.

Now he has made good for the allied cause by taking "Madam Behave," a French farce, and turning it into a seven-reel burst of hilarity with Julian Eltinge and Ann Pennington doing the wild spasms of gag situations which tickle the movie audience and make Greater Laugh Session a reality.

In "Madame Behave," which is now playing at the American, Eltinge is a cousin to Charley's Aunt," because he romps through the plot as a buxom lady, besieged and woed by two aged suitors in the person of Lionel Belmore and Jack Duffy, while Eltinge himself is continually foiled in his pursuit of Ann. But how he wins her makes a delightful story.

The supporting cast is an unusually strong one. It includes among others Lionel Belmore, David James, Tom Wilson and Stanhope Wheatcroft.

Correct this sentence: "Our little Mabel has a wonderful voice," said she, "but we never ask her to sing for guests."—Akron Beacon-Journal.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

An excess of acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sour, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often irritating the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few teaspoonfuls of Bisulfated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter of a cupful of water. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisulfated Magnesia in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk—is best. It is the best antacid for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Lost A Million

When we read of some unfortunate speculation made by stock dealers or others, we wonder why people are so careless with their wealth; many of us to whom a million dollars is but a mythical sum, far beyond our reach, would no doubt hesitate before risking such in enormous wealth upon one throw. But the same is true with health; many there are today suffering from stomach troubles, indigestion, constipation, kidney and liver ailments, nervousness, rheumatism, sleeplessness, etc., who are just as careless and risky with their health as the plunger on the stock market is with his money. With such a remedy as Ka-Di-Ok, the great herbal laxative stomach tonic and system builder, within reach of all who are in a run-down condition, suffering from the above ailments, there should be less suffering. Thousands have taken advantage of this medicine and have testified as to their restoration to health.

Mr. George Brown, R. F. D. No 1, Greensburg, Pa., says: For several years past I was bothered with rheumatism, lumbago and asthma with poor appetite, gas on my stomach and nervousness. I obtained the best results from Ka-Di-Ok, as nearly all my troubles have now left me.

New Accounting Plan Explained to Members Of Township Boards

Miss Vivian Dowds, a former school teacher at East Liverpool, but now connected with the state bureau of inspection, presided at a meeting of township boards of education here yesterday.

Every township, with the exception of Washington, was represented at the session, which was called for the purpose of explaining the new system of accounting which all boards of education must immediately install.

Recently state examiners had a similar conference with township trustees and the township clerks.

New account books have to be purchased by all township boards of education, an also blanks for these looseleaf systems. The idea of ordering such a system is for the purpose of keeping all boards on a "pay as you go" system. By the new system it can be told at a glance the balance in any fund, and whether or not there is sufficient money in a particular fund to permit additional expenditures. They system also presents an easy way to check up on all accounts, and by any one who may be interested in observing the records from time to time.

Miss Dowds recently completed an examination of the records of the township boards of education in this county.

STATE PARK TITLE WILL BE FILED

Abstract of title to the 500 acres of land that will be used for state park purposes in Hanover township, near Guilford, are to be filed with the state highway department by March 1, according to word received in Lisbon Tuesday evening. The property will be taken over by the state for park and fish hatchery purposes probably during March or in April, and closing of the gaps in the big dam will go forward during the early part of the summer.

The last legislature appropriated money for the purchase of the land, following an intensified campaign launched by the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association.

COMMISSIONER TO MAKE REPORTS

Because of a new order just issued by Mayor Robert B. Clark of Lisbon upon the authority of the village council, reports will hereafter be made out by the street commissioner of all work done daily. These reports are to be made out on blanks provided for such purpose, and will be filed with council at its monthly meeting.

The suggestion that such reports be filed was made by Councilman Bert Burns, former county auditor. A record of materials hauled, what street repairs were made, or street cleaned will be made on these daily work sheets.

MINSTREL CAST IS REHEARSING

The cast that will take part in the Kiwanis club minstrel show in Lisbon Feb. 22 is being put through a steady series of rehearsals. The show this year will be much larger than that of previous years and will be given for two nights.

Many new and original jokes have been written for the show, and the most recent and popular songs will be sung, both as solos and as a chorus.

Case Settled.

The case of C. W. Haney against Dr. D. J. Smally, which was appealed to common please court from a lower court, after judgment for $47 was rendered, has been settled out of court, and at the costs of the defendant.

Miss Eells Improving.

The court has also issued a restraining order against Lucas from him interfering with his wife in any way, or disposing of any property now in his possession.

Dr. Cook Again

Dr. Frederick Cook and the famous North Pole controversy have long been considered settled. Now the issue bobs up again.

Amundsen, whose integrity nobody has ever impugned, who discovered the South Pole and nearly reached the North Pole by airplane, says he has read the accounts of both men and found them much alike, and about equally convincing. He seems rather to suggest that Cook reached the pole than that Peary did not.

Cook naturally takes advantage of that statement, issuing one of his own, in which he says that recent explorations in the Arctic, by MacMillan and Amundsen, have disproved many of Peary's observations.

"I note these facts in review," he says, "with no intention to underrate Peary's worthy efforts, but to indicate that a pioneer working under great difficulties is subject to some inaccuracies in his observations."

"It must be remembered that I was the first to report the physical conditions at the pole, and that all my work since has tended to confirm my reports. Rear Admiral Schley was the first to point out this phase of the rival claims." According to Schley's views, says Cook, either Cook or Peary, or both, reached the same place and described the same conditions.

This controversy will never be settled to everybody's satisfaction. Most people, presumably, will continue to believe that Peary reached the pole and Cook didn't. A large number of Americans, however, especially those who have talked with Cook or heard him speak, are convinced that if Cook never really attained the goal, he thought he did.

In any case, Cook's book on the subject is worth reading, as a work of imagination if not of science. There is a poetic glow in it that is rare in the works of more scientific explorers.

Cheap Wheat Production

It is doubtless true that many farmers have lost money on wheat in recent years, and are discouraged. But the following statement from a merchant in Dodge City, Kan., printed in the Bulletin of the National City bank of New York, shows another picture.

Wheat acreage is growing with astonishing rapidity in his section, he reports. In the next few years winter wheat will be sown on more than 10,000,000 acres of land still in sod in Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico and Texas. And this almost regardless of wheat prices. How is that possible?

The factor that has effected this situation is the tractor and the combine. Nowhere else on earth can the great bread staple be produced so cheaply. Hindoo coolies, at three cents a day, and Russian semi-serfs with hand labor, cannot compete with a farmer and two boys who, from May to October, with tractor and combine, can grow and harvest five or six hundred acres of wheat, eight to ten thousand bushels, and have time to summer-fallow a portion of their acreage, and as sidelines get their living from a flock of hens, and are raising corn and kaffir, cows and swine, to fall back on. The actual labor cost per wheat bushel certainly is less than 20 cents. The land is still cheap and half of it is still sod.

"The tractor development is much slower than the automobile, but the new machines are almost fool proof and of course the farmers are year by year more adept with machinery. Many a man has put out 1,000 acres this fall, and put it out in the very best conditions that ever were known in the southwest.

"Now, these facts aren't generally apprehended even by people here. The farmers are finding it out and are picking up the cheap land in the neighborhood so as to give themselves elbow room."

"One young fellow reported to me that for five years his costs, with a harvester thresher, averaged less than five cents per bushel, including labor, gas, oil and repairs. The depreciation and interest charges would not add five cents per bushel more."

"Kansas is pretty well developed, but even southwest of Dodge, in four or five counties, 250 thousand acres of sod have been broken up this last summer."

This experience may be duplicated on a small scale in various other sections. There is a lot of unproductive land in nearly all of the states that may be made to produce paying crops by applying the same methods, with wheat and other crops. Here is new opportunity for untold thousands of enterprising farmers.

Punishment And Parole

Many prisoners are paroled in the province of Ontario, but apparently with fewer unpleasant results than in this country. The chief executive officer of the Ontario parole board announces that 86 per cent of the criminals so paroled make good and become re-established as honest citizens. Only 14 per cent fail when given a fresh chance at self-respecting freedom.

"For some criminals," says this official, "punishment should be quick and drastic. It has to be both to take effect on them, but for a large number it should be tempered with a sense of consideration. I do not believe it is possible by any means to re-establish all criminals, but many of them can be put back on their feet and made good, law-abiding citizens."

The parole system in this country as well as the whole treatment of criminals has come under strong public disapproval of late, chiefly because there does not appear to be any real discrimination between those who can be re-established and those who need the quick and drastic punishment.

Standardization of Gages.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Hard boiled 47th street in the block east of Broadway is the den of a tattered group of happy and luckless youngsters who having been spawned on the pavements are left to shift for themselves. Their costumes are as grotesque as their faces and hands are grimy.

They "Charleston" for pitched pennies, open taxi doors and sell soiled editions of yesterday papers. And at night under lights they gamble for the day's spoils with dice. They are young in years, but old in vice, and prima ladies are often shocked by their gutter language.

Their cast-off clothes and shoes give them a Charlie Chaplin aureole-baggy, ballooning pants, coat tails that flap below the knees and rolled-up sleeves. One shirtless vagabond wears a necktie and another lollies straw hat through the winter.

They have a carbonated gaiety that always attracts crowds, especially when they gamble. They have the usual New York street urchin's fear of the police and also the gangster's contempt, awaiting until a bluecoat is almost upon them, then scurrying away and thumbing their noses in backward derision.

The two leaders are red-heads. They rule the pack with swift socks on the jaw and in their gambling games display a fairness that is wholesome. Cafe men in the neighborhood say they do not know where they come from or where they sleep.

They appear around noon and are usually there long after midnight. Habitudes of the street say the little nomads of the Roaring Forties never beg. In the late afternoon they often curl up in protection doorways to refresh themselves with sleep for the night to come.

Their life is whetted to a keenness on the city's flagstones. Robust men have whined over lesser ironies of fate. Like the line in Shelley's "Ode to the West Wind," they are "tameless, and swift and proud." They deserve something better.

A collector has salvaged this from the dead memoirs of an early New York club:

"New Fangled glasses were fitted in the club windows, where before there was parchment. There was great to do over the change and one member said he would resign. A few which favor it say that these objectors neglect to powder their wigs, and soap the wine stains off their waist coats, so that they cannot stand the light."

Five female stake stars have exploded in public in temperamental outbursts the past season. One ordered the curtain down in the middle of the act. Such high flights amuse me. And I always think of one of Bernhardt's most tragic moments. She was leaving the room with a dead love and dead hopes and the last despairing gesture was a tightened hand gripping the door jamb as the rest of her had passed from sight. The audience saw her in convulsive gulps. An admirer saw her in this attitude one night. While the hand was conveying its despairing message, Bernhardt was saying: "Oh, is that you, Charlie? So glad you came. What a beastly hot evening!"

Raymond Hitchcock said it many years ago and it is true today. Nobody ever gets temperamental with a policeman.

The highest salaried actor during the past season was Jack Buchanan of Charlot's revue, who on a percentage of the gross basis averaged $3,309 a week. Marilyn Miller was the highest paid actress on the same basis, the weekly averaging a bit higher. It does not mean they are the best performers. It means they had good business agents.

in which the workman in fashioning by hand one part to fit another endeavors to make it within a certain fraction of the required dimension, with a permissible plus or minus variation, or a variation in two directions. The other is based upon mass production and the repetitive process of automatic machinery. In this case the automatic machine is set to one limiting size and then permitted to run, the tool wearing all the time, until the other limiting size is reached, after which the tool must be reset or replaced. Under these conditions the permissible variation is thought of as being in one direction only, hence the name uni-lateral.

Great Britain, Germany, Australia, Sweden, Switzerland, and other important industrial countries have adopted standards for gaging and machine fits within the last few years, and in each instance there has been a considerable controversy as to whether the bi-lateral or the uni-lateral system should be used.

As indicative of the world trend toward mass production methods it is to be noted that the decision in every case has been in favor of the uni-lateral system.

"Madam Behave," Film At The American, Is Amusing Farce

Al Christie recently set the nation laughing at "Charley's Aunt," there by disproving the old assertion that the English have no sense of humor, because Charley's Aunt has been as English for thirty-four years as Paddington's pig is Irish.

Then he turned to one of the greatest American stage farces which was ever written, "Seven Days" for his next feature length comedy strike.

Now he has made good for the allied cause by taking "Madam Behave," a French farce, and turning it into a seven-reel burst of hilarity with Julian Eltinge and Ann Pennington doing the wild spasms of gag situations which tickle the movie audience and make Greater Laugh Season a reality.

In "Madame Behave," which is now playing at the American, Eltinge is a cousin to Charley's Aunt," because he romps through the plot as a buxom lady, besieged and wooed by two aged suitors in the person of Lionel Belmore and Jack Duffy, while Eltinge himself is continually foiled in his pursuit of Ann. But how he wins her makes a delightful story.

The supporting cast is an unusually strong one. It includes among others Lionel Belmore, David James, Tom Wilson and Stanhope Wheatcroft.

Correct this sentence: "Our little Mabel has a wonderful voice," said she, "but we never ask her to sing for guests." —Akron Beacon-Journal.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Arid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sour, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal function of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few grains of Bismarck Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of the powder or tablet form with a glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bismarck Magnesia is provided in tablet form and will be had easily to the stomach, inexpensive to buy and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

That's all there is to it. Healthy, vigorous, red blood such as S. S. S. helps Nature build rich, red blood! You can build red-blood-cells so fast that the impurities that cause breaking out on the skin hardly get into the system before the pure blood annihilates them—kills them right out—stops them from breaking out through the skin.

And then this rich, red, pure blood feeds and nourishes the tissues of the skin and keeps it looking healthy.

Lost A Million

When we read of some unfortunate speculation made by stock dealers or others, we wonder why people are so careless with their wealth: many of us to whom a million dollars is but a mythical sum, far beyond our reach, would no doubt hesitate before risking such an enormous wealth upon one throw. But the same is true with health: many there are today suffering from stomach troubles, indigestion, constipation, kidney and liver ailments, nervousness, rheumatism, sleeplessness, etc., who are just as careless and risky with their health as the plunger on the stock market is with his money.

With such a remedy as Ka-DI-OK, the great herbal laxative stomach tonic and system builder, within reach of all who are in a run-down condition, suffering from the above ailments, there should be less suffering. Thousands have taken advantage of this medicine and have testified as to their restoration to health.

Mr. George Brown, R. F. D. No. 1, Greensburg, Pa., says: "For several years past I was bothered with rheumatism, lumbago and asthma with poor appetite, gas on my stomach and nervousness. I obtained the best results from Ka-DI-OK, as nearly all my troubles have now left me."

New Accounting Plan Explained to Members Of Township Boards

Miss Vivian Dowds, a former school teacher at East Liverpool, but now connected with the state bureau of inspection, presided at a meeting of township boards of education here yesterday.

Every township, with the exception of Washington, was represented at the session, which was called for the purpose of explaining the new system of accounting which all boards of education must immediately install.

Recently state examiners had a similar conference with township trustees and the township clerks.

New account books have to be purchased by all township boards of education, also blanks for these looseleaf systems. The idea of ordering such a system is for the purpose of keeping all boards on a "pay as you go" system. By the new system it can be told at a glance the balance in any fund, and whether or not there is sufficient money in a particular fund to permit additional expenditures. They system also presents an easy way to check up on all accounts, and by any one who may be interested in observing the records from time to time.

Miss Dowds recently completed an examination of the records of the township boards of education in this county.

STATE PARK TITLE WILL BE FILED

The property will be taken over by the state for park and fish hatchery purposes probably during March or in April, and closing of the gaps in the big dam will go forward during the early part of the summer.

GEORGE STRINE, YORK, GUEST AT EAGLES' MEET

Lodge Orator Opens
Membership Campaign
in City.

PLAN INITIATION

Order's Enrollment Increases to 600,000 in Two Years.

Benefits, growing out of membership with the Fraternal Order of Eagles, were discussed by George A. Strine, York, Pa., leading orator for the national organization, on an address before members of East Liverpool Aerie No. 457, in the Eagles' temple, Broadway, last evening.

Strine came here in the interest of a membership drive which is now in progress. The lodge seeks 500 new members. The first group of candidates to be initiated will be known as the C. H. Shone class in honor of the president of the local order.

A committee of lodgemem served refreshments at the conclusion of Strine's address. In part Strine said:

"The growth of the Fraternal Order of Eagles in the last two years from 450,000 to 600,000 members demands an explanation. Men, who never had any inclination to join a lodge, are finding reasons to join the F. O. E. Thousands of young men are joining because there is no place else where they can spend so few dollars for a never failing supply of friends and good times and then get the money back on the first rainy day. Married men and fathers of families are turning to the Eagles because of its protective attitude toward the home, and because of its excellent plan if life insurance."

1,700 Aeries Organized.

"Workingmen, by the hundred thousand and more, because this order has been in the past a potent advocate of workmen's compensation, and is now back of old age pensions. Business men and employers, in increasing number, are joining because of the business and professional advantage in having a wide acquaintance in all circles and because, as employers, they are beginning to recognize the justice of pensioning the worker who has grown too old and who has never been paid enough to allow him to save for a jobless old age. As employers they join to work for old age pension."

The Fraternal Order of Eagles has 600,000 members who are affiliated with 1,700 lodges. The lodges, however, are known among members as aeries—a term meaning "Eagles' nest." The first aerie was instituted in St. Louis, Washington, in the winter of 1898.

"Since its organization 27 years ago, there has been paid out in sick benefits to our members $27,153,535, for funeral benefits $5,281,993, and for medical service $8,310,727—a total of $41,046,250. In these figures you have the brick and mortar of our fraternity. Added to this are individual and unchartered charities without number, where the aerie has learned through the many channels of brotherhood of some member's special need and promptly met it out of other aerie funds."

Advocates Old Age Pensions.

"Our campaign for an old age pension act was begun three years ago when the grand aerie appointed a national old age pension commission and subsequently appropriated to its use the interest, amounting to a substantial number of thousands of dollars annually, on a permanent fund of the grand aerie. Three states now have old age pension laws. In 26 other states bills are now pending."

Rev. Mel Morris
Tells Life Story
At Baptist Church

A crowd which taxed the seating capacity of the First Baptist church, West Fifth street, heard Rev. Mel Morris of Greensboro, Md., tell the story of his life last evening.

When he undertook to build a Baptist church in Greensboro, his home city, a Modernist preacher, he declared, was employed in an effort to drive him from the community. The liquor ring, he charged, planned to take his life while other unfriendly interests made attempts to destroy his church by fire. Now, with the farmer membership of the church financially embarrassed by a crop failure, opposition interests are now seeking to foreclose the mortgage on the edifice.

The evangelist tonight will begin the second week of his two weeks' campaign. His sermon subject will be "Repent or Perish."

Guy Rice, Motorist, Faces Court on Traffic Charge

Guy Rice, College street, will face Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today upon a charge of driving through a red traffic light at the corner of Market and Fourth street. Rice was arrested at 10 o'clock yesterday morning by Chief of Police Hugh McDermott.

Joseph Berman, Ninth street junk day afternoon upon a charge of misdeameanor, was fined $25 and costs yesterday use of automobile license plates. Berman, who was arrested on an affidavit signed by Sheriff Wright, is alleged to have used plates issued for a Ford truck upon his machine.

Roy Barker, Toronto sewer pipe worker, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail by Judge Hanley this morning when he pleaded guilty to a non-support charge filed by his wife, Mrs. Alice Barker, of West Point. Barker was arrested by Court Bailiff Tammam Hissam.

Judson Harmon 80
Today; Gov. Donahey
Wires Greetings

COLUMBUS, Feb. 3.—Congratulations were wired by Governor Donahey today to former Governor Judson Harmon, Cincinnati. Harmon is 80 years old today.

"As one of Ohio's distinguished sons, many times a faithful and capable servant of the public in high places, always a champion of justice and a leader of our people, you are to be congratulated today upon having reached the 80th milestone of a useful life," Donahey telegraphed Harmon.

"All wish you many more years in your present role of one of the beloved sages of the commonwealth."

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrup, and saves about $2. Easily prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

The Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

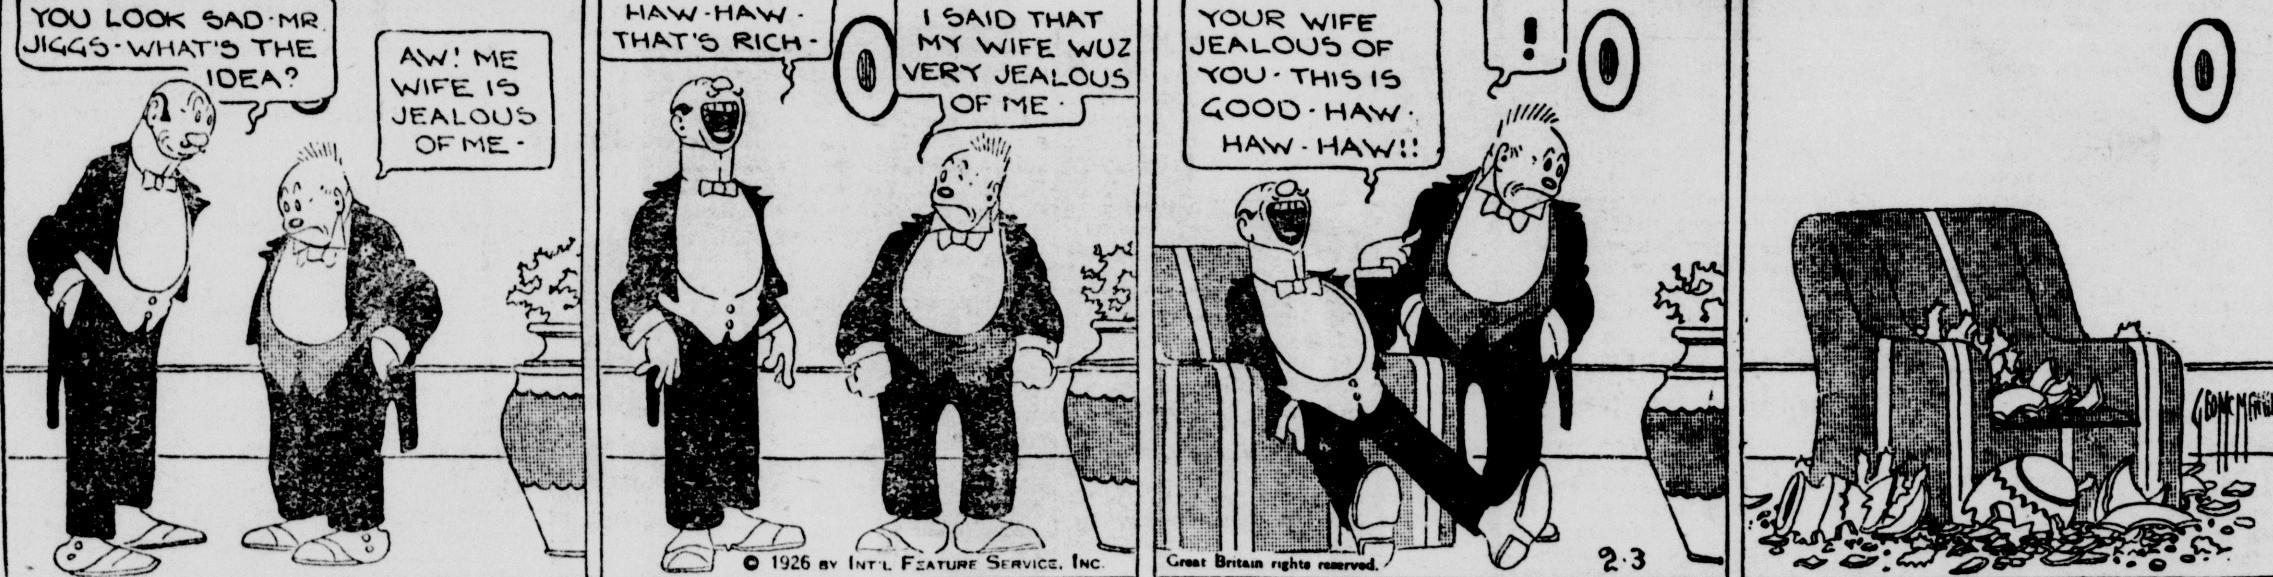

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for 2½ ounces of Pinex with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Jeffries, former heavyweight champion of the world; Tommy Ryan, former middle and welterweight world champion who retired undefeated with the title; Ad Wolast, former lightweight world champ; Ted "Kid" Lewis, former welterweight world champion; Spike Robinson, former feather-weight champion of Great Britain; Joe Rivers, foremost lightweight of his day and contender for the championship; and Jack Herrick, former heavyweight champ of Panama.

Other sporting celebrities connected with this photoplay are Harry Burns, bag punching champion of 1907, who still holds that honor; Larry Williams, former trainer of Dempsey, and Ely Stanton, who has boxed with Dempsey in several of his pictures. Dan Tobey, appointed official announcer of the A.

Dempsey Trains as Tunney Bout Begins to Look Like "Real Thing"

Skeptical boxing fans are beginning to believe that there's something to the reports that Jack Dempsey is going to fight Gene Tunney in August after all, with Tex Rickard preparing to stage the bout in New Jersey in defiance of edicts of the N. Y. boxing commission, and Dempsey engaging in light training at Miami, where he is vacationing with his two managers, Estelle Taylor, his wife, and Eddie Conner. Dempsey is seen with Estelle and Eddie in this new photo from Miami. Tunney also is in Florida.

TUNNEY FLOUTS NEW YORK RING COMMISSION

GLOVE RULERS THREATEN TO KILL LICENSE

Gene Won't Fight in Gotham Anyway, Unless With Dempsey.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—Indications today were that the New York state Athletic commission, self-elected dictator of all heavyweight championship controversies, may find itself master of none when the boys forget they are gentlemen and the title show-down comes, if ever. There happens to be a trio of men involved in the heavyweight championship situation and only three of them pay attention to what the local board says or does.

Gene Tunney, runner-up in the runner-up to the title, is the latest heavyweight to flout the commission, which now threatens him with non-renewal of his license. The young man, however, continues to bear up bravely in view of the fact that he doesn't want to fight here anyhow, unless his opponent is Jack Dempsey, which the broad insists cannot be.

The rest of the story, therefore, lacks popular interest as far as Tunney is concerned. Having a title shot in the immediate offering, he wouldn't meet John L. Sullivan's coachman in a New York ring until after the championship matter is settled one way or the other.

He made some sort of verbal agreement to box Jack Sharkey. Boston heavyweight, here this month and it is this fact that has prompted the commission to issue its overt threats. It seems that Tunney is perfectly willing to fight Sharkey verbally and the event will take place three days after Battling Nelson swallows a door knob. Jack Delaney's challenge will be accepted immediately thereafter.

Our Mr. Dempsey, of course, has been out of talk here, so she can devote her attention to the new frocks, but yesterday she came near being forced to scratch in the mixed doubles because her mind was on clothes.

Miss Wills' first Parisian gowns have arrived and she is entirely absorbed in trying them all on.

Fortunately Miss Wills has no match scheduled for today, so she can devote her attention to the new frocks, but yesterday she came near being forced to scratch in the mixed doubles because her mind was on clothes.

Miss Wills spent yesterday morning in the shop of Jean Patou at Cannes trying on her new dresses. She arrived in Nice at noon with Walter Monney, of San Francisco, and discovered that she had left her racquets at Patou's in Cannes. She immediately telephoned a friend in Cannes and asked that the racquets be rushed to Nice. They came but 15 minutes before Miss Wills was scheduled to go on the courts with C. F. Aeschlimann in the mixed doubles.

"I became so absorbed in my first French dresses that I entirely forgot my racquets and unless I had them I couldn't play," Miss Wills said.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

BY NORMAN E. BROWN

Pugilistic fans have been not a little interested in the stories which have been coming out of the far northwest, Tacoma, Portland, Vancouver and other ports, aent the matter of a "hunt for heavies," these heavies being men who might possibly qualify for a crack at Jack Dempsey's world championship crown, in the event that young man does not relinquish it to the ex-marine Gene Tunney next August 12, at Boyle's Thirty Acres.

It seems that out in the country made famous by Lewis and Clark, where the "men and trees grow big," there are a number of embryo Jack Dempseys, and not the least of these is Young (Jar 'Em Jack) Dempsey, who, before starting his boxing career, was a rigging slinger at a lumber camp. They say he is a terrific straight puncher and can hit harder than Paul Berlenbach. Young Jack is of French persuasion, his name being Jack Lafave.

Another of note is Big Bill McKenzie, weighing 240 pounds and harder than nails. To date he has had only four scraps and won them all by knockouts. Another is Art Sherar, a pretty shifty sort of a boxer, too being a product of the logging camps.

In the lighter division there is Dode (Bearcat) Bercot, a colorful 140-pound boxer with wins over Bobby Barrett and Morris Schlafer; Ted "Krashin" Krache, Leo Lomski, Aberdeen middleweight, and Doc Snail.

Of course there may not come a Lochinvar out of the west who will carry off Miss Heavyweight Championship, but it does no harm to hunt for one out there or think he may be found.

Mackey led the M. P. quintet in their scrap with the Chester crew, caging the ball six times from the floor and four more from the foul line. Carey seconded his record with five two-point tosses and Bailey contributed an even quartet.

Simcox and Fox were the chief scorers for the West Virginians.

Judge Framing Plans To Kill Racing Evils

TEN SCHOOLS REPRESENTED BY CAGE TEAMS

would not enter any faster class. The incentive to enter faster classes is furnished through a series of sealed racing purses, the faster events in each instance being for much larger purses.

"Do you know of any other line of sport?" Judge Stern asked. "where the earning power of the performer decreases as his ability increases? In professional baseball, basketball, football and prize fighting the greater the performer, the greater his earning power and salary. The same is true in any line of business or profession and it ought to be true in harness horse racing as well."

Since his rules were promulgated in a horsemen's magazine, Judge Stern has been called to various parts of the country to explain his plan in detail. He is spending this week in Boston, where last night he addressed the horsemen's association.

Racing men are reported to be taking his plan seriously as one that would tend to eliminate many of the evils of present day racing, including odd-distance racing, time suppression, pulling horses to avoid win-race records, and the like.

APPROXIMATELY 300 eighth grade students of East Liverpool schools are diligently tossing the basketball around these days in preparation for the annual grade tournament which will be staged next month in the high school gymnasium.

The city's athletic stars of the future are included among these 300, of which half are boys and the other half girls, comprising 12 teams of each group and representing 10 schools.

By virtue of the fact that Central and Sixth street schools have two divisions of the seventh and eighth grade each of the two schools will be eligible to enter a team from each of the divisions.

The grade school passers have been given the use of the high school court for practice on Saturdays. The boys have the hours from 8:30 a. m. to 1 p. m. in the afternoon. The girls are assigned to the court from 1 to 5:30.

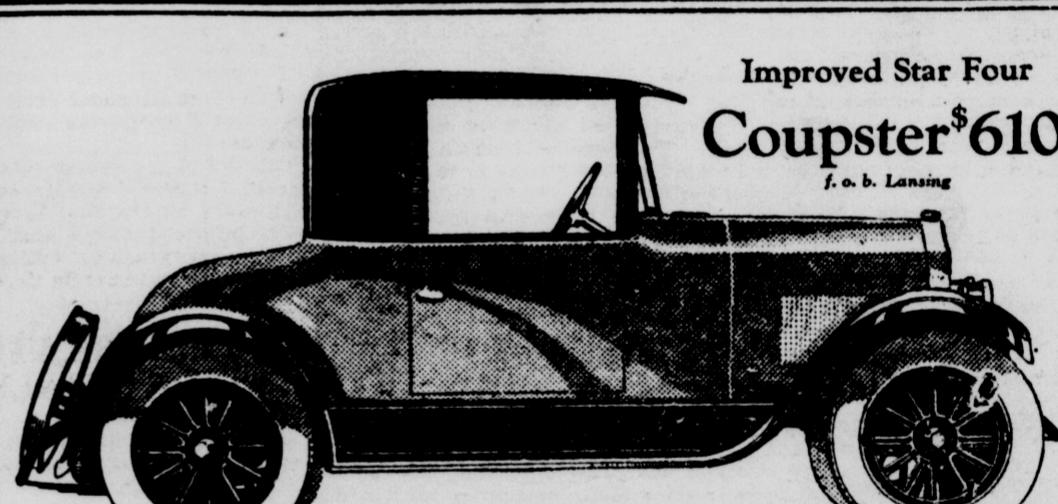

Athletic Director O. V. Boone, who is directing the grade school basketballers, has appointed coaches from the boys and girls of the high school squads to supervise the activities of the grade teams.

Bob knows he will run there in the great race on Washington's birthday. He carries his harness back to the snug barn, where he drops on his comfortable bed, to look with brooding eyes out over the vast expanse of frozen snow, where winds the derby trail he knows so well. And the sun isn't as bright as it was.

His most convincing proof that he thinks is shown in his attitude toward the new leader, which completely confounds the often advanced theory that a lead dog will not give up his leadership without a fight. Bob relinquished his without the bloody, fancy battle with which popular fiction reeks. He has been in too many grueling races not to understand what all the present preparations signify. He has won too many not to know what victory means.

And so Ashton believes that the old dog knows the team must win, and cannot win with him at its head, and for the cause of victory, is stepping aside gracefully, and without a demoralizing demonstration.

Plan Bond Issue For Fire Truck, Sewers And City Building Work

Council Acts Following of Proposed Increase in Insurance Rates by R. B. Crisswell of State Inspection Bureau.

Estimates of the cost of a new fire truck, repairs to the city hall building and construction of sewers at Seventeenth and Twentieth street will be made by city officials as the initial step in plans to issue bonds for an amount to cover all three projects, as a result of council action last night.

Order to compile the estimates was issued by solons following the announcement of a threatened increase in fire insurance rates by R. B. Crisswell, representative of the state inspection bureau; the report of council's city building inspection committee, and Mayor W. L. Fogo's approval of the sewer projects.

"We'll put on the bond issue, give the city these improvements which are absolutely necessary, and reduce taxes, too," asserted Mayor Fogo as the solons began their legislation.

Councilman W. C. Connor cast the only dissenting vote.

Unless the city takes immediate action to obtain fire protection, Wellsville can look for a boost in insurance rates of probably 10 per cent, declared Inspector Crisswell in a short but graphic talk to solons. Crisswell was in the city a short time ago and while here inspected the fire equipment, alarm system, water pressure and pipe lines.

"The chief engineer was here several years ago," said Crisswell, "looked over the fire equipment and warned the city to improve its fire fighting facilities. Nothing was done. The plea was always that they were going to do something. We've been put off several times. Now this is the fourth time I've been here."

The water works was a mighty good start, but the fire equipment is deplorable and it will be a big factor in the consideration of new insurance rates.

"Your fire alarm system is as good and perhaps better than those in cities much larger. There is no kick on it, nor on the source of your water, but in this latter respect, I will say, however, that you have all your eggs in one basket, in one place."

"Your water distribution system is in bad shape. You'll have to get busy or we'll come in and hike the rates. We've been ready to do it for nearly a year, but we've been continually stalled off. We are willing to be lenient, but we can't go too far. We must be fair to the law and to other communities."

"Our insurance rates on dwellings are on a par with those in East Liverpool, Steubenville, Columbus, Cincinnati and other large cities."

"Now, you've got to make one big jump and catch up. You need a new husky piece of fire equipment, with ladders and other equipment. The two big chemical tanks, and a bed with a capacity of 1,200 feet of hose, matter of a pumper is up to you—we don't command it, but it would be a fine thing."

"Tests of water in outlying districts show a decided lack of pressure at those points. One way to take care of that is by the use of a pumper."

"You ought to have 3,000 feet of hose, with 1,000 as reserve. I would recommend a hose budget system, with the city buying, say, 500 feet a year."

"There is a decided lack of firemen. The force, as it is, is fine, but there should be more men on duty at night, men who could sleep there and have other regular employment during the day. It is not the day alarm that worries us—it's the alarm that comes in at 2 or 3 in the morning, and there should be enough men on hand to jump right in at the start and make a great black spot on that fire."

"All of your water is coming in at the north end. You should plan to run pipes toward the west end and establish a reservoir there. I'd recommend that you take up the old pipe around the pump house for this purpose. Water pipe lines cross at Third and Broadway, Twelfth and Center and at other points, yet there is no 'tie-in' at any of these places. And nobody, apparently, knows anything about the lines in the west end. All these things are considered in the adjustment of insurance rates."

"You should have ordinances for fire protection, to prohibit combustible roofs, to create business district fire limits, to install fire escapes and matters of such nature."

"I'm not trying to scare you—just to let you know what's what."

CITY FACING COURT FIGHT

Contractor A. W. Hinaman Turns Down Solons' Proposal.

warning you. The amount you will save will more than offset interest and depreciation on the equipment you buy.

A new truck would go a long way toward heading off the proposed increase, but so many of the needs do not call that something should be done all along the line."

A proposal submitted by council and city officials for an amicable adjustment of the contract has been refused, Mayor Fogo announced.

At a recent conference of Mayor Fogo, Solicitor Luccock, Resident Engineer McGill, W. L. Sherman, of the Sherman Engineering company, Service-Safety Director Grafton, and city council, it was estimated that the contractor owed the city $17,500 on the contract.

Contractor Hinaman asserted that the city owed him $19,000.

The city proposed to give Contractor Hinaman the difference, of $1,500, approximately, and settle all claims.

In his message to council last night, Robinson asserted that "the proposal is unfair and unreasonable" and he pointed out that the contractor didn't think it would be necessary to pursue the matter further in the way of negotiations.

The guest hosts received a large number of gifts.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph French, and daughter, Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Horner and daughter Kathryn and Anna May; Mrs. Charles Stewart and son Charles; Mr. and Mrs. William Petty and daughter, Mary Louise; Mrs. Charles Green and daughter Gladys; Clarence Peters, Charles Peters, William Thomas, Mrs. Zacharias, and Miss Mollie Zacharias.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the local high school and was active in local school athletics.

After Feb. 8, Mr. and Mrs. Woodward will be at home to their friends at 1107 Center avenue.

DOMINICK YATTI FREED BY MAYOR

Dominick Yatti, who has been a prisoner in the city jail here since last Saturday night when he was arrested by police on two prohibition law charges following a raid on a vacant house in Commerce street, last night was a free man.

Friends of Yatti counted out $800, plus $20 costs, in a bundle of greenbacks on Mayor W. L. Fogo's desk last night and Yatti's cell doors swung open.

Yatti was charged with possessing and furnishing and was fined $500 on the first count and $300 on the second. The huge still which was confiscated by the police, is in the mayor's office.

MORE LIGHTS TO BE GIVEN CITY

If city councilmen can mature their plans, city streets will again be illuminated by electric lights.

Announcing that "we're going to try to light the city up the best we can," William Nicholson, chairman of the street and light committee, has called a meeting of the committee for Thursday night. It is not the day alarm that worries us—it's the alarm that comes in at 2 or 3 in the morning, and there should be enough men on hand to jump right in at the start and make a great black spot on that fire.

BRIDGE AT CREEK IS WASHED OUT

Transportation between Jefferson and Columbian counties at Yellow Creek was cut off temporarily yesterday when the detour bridge over Yellow Creek, back of the McCulloch-Jefferson County Children's home was washed out by a sudden rise in the creek.

The washout was reported to Jefferson county commissioners by Edward Rutherford, superintendent at the children's home, who pointed out that the lack of a bridge prevented the transportation of supplies to the home.

SHERIFF WRIGHT IN RAID HERE

Charged with possessing alleged intoxicating liquor, Willard Davidson was arrested at his home, 449 Main street, at 1:30 o'clock this morning by Sheriff George Wright.

Wright confiscated a quantity of whisky. Davidson accompanied the sheriff's forces back to Lisbon. He was arraigned before Justice M. K. Zimmerman and fined $150. He paid and was released.

Sheriff Wright's party included Deputies Kindsvatter and Bourbon and Patrolmen Hurn and Pugh of the local force.

CHURCH PROTESTS POLE ERECTION

As a result of action of council last night the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. will suspend operations on the erection of three telephone poles adjoining the First Presbyterian church, River view avenue.

Officers of the church recently accompanied to Mayor Fogo. Manager Frank L. Swaney, of the East Liverpool district, informed solons that the telephone company will be willing to make whatever adjustment is necessary.

SOLONS CREATE CITY HALL JOB

An ordinance creating the office of city hall policeman was passed last night by council.

The job will pay a salary of $900 a year. The duties of the incumbent will be defined by the Service-Safety director and will not be included in the classified list. The ordinance was passed as an emergency measure.

Attention of solons was called to the proposed sewer extension from the Johnson place. It was pointed out that 16 more homes are depending on the construction of the sewer there. The matter was referred to the service director.

Poodles—2 and 4 Legs.
Well Used Crown Jewels.

The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in accordance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.

An expert says poodles and other lap dogs "go mad" oftener than dogs that take more exercise. Another expert, friendly to poodles, says that isn't so. One thing is certain, human poodles, petted and pampered by inherited money, go mad or lose their balance much more quickly than those that work for a living. See the divorce and "high class" crime news in your daily newspapers.

Russia's soviet government will sell the collection of royal jewels that once belonged to the czars, from Peter the Great down to the last poor victim.

Money from diamonds, rubies, pearls, will be used to buy American jewels for Russian peasants.

You deplore and condemn what bohemianism did to those Romanoffs, weak and worthless as they were, at the end, but you can't help approving the disposition of the Romanoff jewelry. Beating swords into ploughshares does not compare with changing crowns and necklaces into ploughshares for peasants.

Luther Burbank in a San Francisco pupil gives more information concerning his views on a supreme being. He says he is an infidel, but believes in God. Of course he doesn't know that he is an infidel, and he can't tell whether he believes in God or not. "Belief" is a word used commonly to describe a mental habit.

As to the existence of a supreme being, the belief of individuals, from Thales to the Mahatma Gandhi, is about as important as the beliefs of so many hoodlums speculating on the nature, power and purposes of a passing airplane. We don't even know positively that we exist, and haven't the vaguest idea how or why we exist. Our abstract speculations are foolish, but we can't help trying.

Dr. Vandenberg of Leyden university hunts for double stars in the southern hemisphere, residence of the southern cross.

Using the telescope at Johannesburg, he has found 180 new double stars, each two gigantic suns revolving around each other.

And he finds other stars in the depths of the sky, strange as fish in the depths of the ocean.

Consider Tucani Beta, a star shining near the south pole, made up of six runs revolving around one another in complicated fashion.

This is a wonderful universe, and you need not be surprised that its management puzzles even Luther Burbank.

Ramon Franco, able and daring Spaniard, has finished his flight across the Atlantic ocean from Spain to Pernambuco. His next hop will be from Pernambuco to Rio de Janeiro, in Brazil, and the next to Buenos Aires.

This should interest our noble, well-meaning navy department, which made a 100 per cent failure in the effort to fly from California to Hawaii, with the help of three planes, especially.

Why pay a cleaner to remove spots from your clothing when you can easily do it yourself at home?

The one important factor in this work is the use of the proper method for the particular stain you wish to eradicate.

This knowledge can be obtained by consulting an authoritative booklet issued by the Department of Agriculture which tells how to remove 88 different kinds of stains from clothing.

Alabama Governor Will Pardon Aged Dry Law Violator

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 3.—Governor W. W. Brandon announced today he would parole John M. George, 84-year-old Confederate veteran, who has been sent to the Wrenna convict mine to serve a six-months' sentence for violating the state dry law.

George, who has a young wife and a three-year-old son, denied he violated the law, saying he only carried a message concerning the delivery of some liquor for one of his relatives.

The governor has received numerous petitions asking that George be pardoned or paroled.

Disarmament Parley, Set

FRANCE BLAMED

No Assurance That Conference Will be Held in March.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Official postponement of the first session of the league of nations' disarmament conference, originally set for February 15, was followed here today by a distinct feeling of skepticism toward the whole project.

The fact that the powers have failed to set definite date for the meeting, following the abandonment of February 15, has served to heighten the doubt concerning the conference that has been felt here from the first.

There have been reports from abroad that the postponement would be only until March 15 or April 15, but according to confidential information reaching Washington there is no more assurance that France and her allies will be ready to gather around the table on those dates than they were in February. Although five nations signed the request for a postponement it really was arranged by France, according to these advices.

France Chooses Easiest Way.
Being unable to consent to a reduction of her armed forces at this time, and unwilling to be put in the position of an obstructionist at the preliminary gathering, France chose the easiest way out and demanded an indefinite postponement, according to the version accepted here.

The American government's attitude toward the postponement is one of solicitous indifference. It neither pro-

Kate Starkey Webb, 28, is fighting for her life today in her home in Wellsville, after taking bichloride of mercury, police believe, with suicidal intent.

Physicians say her condition is critical.

Took Several Tablets.

The woman, according to report, returned from a party, went to a cupboard, opened a bottle of poison tablets and placed several in her mouth.

Her mother, Elizabeth Starkey, who saw her coming in, said she observed that her daughter was acting strangely.

As the woman placed the poison tablets in her mouth, a younger brother, Charles, sprang to her side and seized her hand.

Dr. J. S. McCullough was called and administered an emetic.

The woman has been living with her mother and two brothers. It is believed she was despondent as a result of ill health.

Vestrymen Elected At St. Stephen's Church Meeting

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

Annual meeting of the congregation of the St. Stephen's Episcopal church was held at the parish house on West Fourth street, last evening, when reports of the various societies, boards and other organizations were submitted.

Archdeacon Gerald F. Patterson, Cleveland, presided.

The old vestry was re-elected. This board includes the following: Senior warden; Albert Corns; junior warden, W. H. Thompson; treasurer, R. A. Weinhardt; clerk, George Steel; financial secretary, Clifford Hindley; R. J. Shepherd, A. M. Burns, Robert M. Cartwright, John B. McDonald, Charles Nelson and John Parker.

The vestry will select a successor to the late Rev. Lionel C. Difford.

Two Ohioans Found Unconscious on Bed In Gas-filled Room

DAYTON, O., Feb. 3.—What is hinted by police as a suicide pact was uncovered by neighbors who heard groans coming from the apartment below her and notified police.

Upon breaking down the door, police found Henry H. Kroma, 40, and Mary Alberta Kernan, 40, lying unconscious upon a bed in the apartment, a gas stove going full tilt, the doors and windows stuffed with paper and the air in the apartment unbreathable.

At the hospitals where they were taken it was said that their condition is critical.

They had been in the apartment since Saturday.

Senators Couzens and King both sponsored amendments raising the maximum surtax rate to 25 percent and increasing the schedule gradually above the $100,000 income bracket. This was in direct conflict to the committee's recommendation and the provision, enacted by the house, fixing the maximum surtax at 20 per cent on incomes of $100,000. Both Senator Smoot, R., of Utah, and Senator Simmons, D., of North Carolina, urged adoption of the committee's schedule because it was based on a compromise.

Schooner Ecola, With
Cargo of Lumber,
May be Lost.

14 ABOARD CRAFT

Steamer, Carrying 150
Passengers, Wallows
in High Seas.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3.—The worst gale to strike the northern California coast in the last 25 years was still raging today.

Four vessels off Point Arena, on the Mendocino coast, were battling mountainous seas with the possibility that the schooner Ecola, Portland to San Francisco with a cargo of lumber, would be lost.

The tankers Los Alamos and the Captain A. F. Lucas, and the steam schooner Noyo were standing by.

The Ecola is carrying a crew of 13 men and Mrs. Reiner Peterson, wife of the skipper.

A tug has been dispatched from San Francisco.

The Admiral Fiske, carrying 150 passengers from Seattle to San Francisco, and the Harry Luckenbach, with a cargo from Tacoma, were wallowing off Point Arena awaiting the storm to abate.

The Wilhelmina, 250 miles out, battling her way from Honolulu, radiated that she was battling a 70-mile gale.

Freighter Sinks, Crew Saved.

NYORK, NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Although the stormy Atlantic was still pounding away today at a half dozen ships still in danger, shipping circles were elated with the latest rescue at sea, that of the 25 men on board the Norwegian freighter, Johanna Dybwad.

The Belgian liner Arminio wirelessed the good news that she had successfully taken the Dybwad's crew aboard before the Norse boat sank.

The Arminio stood by until the Dybwad went down, to make sure that the menace of the derelict was removed from the main passenger lane of the North Atlantic.

The rescue took place about 700 miles east of Halifax in the same latitude that the Laristair went down with more than a score on board last week.

Chaplain of State Prison Will Speak At Northside Dinner

Plans have been completed for the Community banquet and entertainment, which will be held in the Orchard Grove Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Northside, on Friday evening.

Speakers will be Rev. T. O. Reed, Columbus, chaplain of the Ohio State penitentiary, and Rev. William B. Armstrong, Canton, district superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal church. A musical program will be featured.

The dinner will be served at 5:30 and 6:30 o'clock, due to the limited seating capacity of the dining parlors. Tickets for the affair may be obtained from Mrs. Dan Smith, McKinnon avenue.

Norris to attack the bill as a two-party political measure.

"I hope senators will vote according to the dictates of their conscience and not because their parties are calling upon them," said Norris. "I hope senators won't place a halter around their necks when they vote on this bill. I am surprised at the indirect attempt here to line up both major parties because a bi-partisan agreement was made in the committee room and the leaders want that agreement carried out."

Opposition to the committee's schedule revealed that it would give the greatest percentage of reduction to incomes above $100,000. The committee's surtaxes, if was pointed out, would give a 20 per cent reduction in taxes on incomes above $100,000, a 17 per cent reduction on $50,000 incomes, and only a 19 percent reduction on $30,000 incomes.

Bill Is Attacked.

In actual cash reductions, the bill itself was attacked on the ground it also would give the greatest amount of relief to the highest brackets. The following table was cited by opponents, Smoot, in explaining the measure: Income Proposed Tax Reduction.

$10,000, $101.25, $83.75.

$30,000, $1,778.75, $496.25.

$50,000, $4,878.75, $1216.25.

$100,000, $16,058.75, $4,518.25.

$200,000, $41,058.75, $24,518.25.

$500,000, $116,058.75, $83,518.25.

$1,000,000, $241,058.75, $183,518.25.

All the figures were based on a married man's return, with $20,000 income admitted to be earned.

This table, it was said, proved that the multi-millionaire, with an income of $1,000,000, had his tax almost cut in half while the small business man with a $10,000 income, received a reduction of only 30 per cent. The insurgent Republicans and Democrats launched their fight to correct this alleged inconsistency.

METHUSELAH'S WIFE

THE STORY OF A GIRL BY EDGAR POE NORDS WHO MARRIED FOR MONEY

Sixty-Five

Not without humor, and a sense of the appropriateness of things, Noble Harwood had elected to attend his Arabian Nights ball as Aladdin.

As an Aladdin, with a wonderful lamp of clinging gold, he had through the material efforts of a highly skilled and generously remunerated corps of genii, created a wonderland within the confines of Harwood House.

The designer, with materials to work with that Arabian caliphs never heard of, had allowed his imagination to run riot, so that the guests as they entered in twos and fours and parties, were bedazzled and awed by the color, the sparkle, the grandeur of it all, and found themselves seeking furtively for adequate adjectives.

The first guests began to arrive about nine. There had been dinner parties in the valley, following festivities during the entire day. But those who were weary, were stimulated by the surroundings into which they walked.

History in Central City began to date from the night of the Harwood Ball.

The dancing began at nine-thirty, in the library and the ballroom of Harwood House, which bore no resemblance to their old selves. The designer said, they looked like the palace of Haroun-al-Raschid in Bagdad, but even a caliph in Haroun's time did not have electric lights. Ten thousand globes glowed and sparkled in the two rooms. Silks streamed down to the floor, seemingly from heaven itself. Perfumes bathed the dancers.

Two orchestras played alternately. Until eleven o'clock there was no let-up in the dancing.

Excited, glowing, nervously cordial, Laurel stood with Noble and Marion at the head of the receiving line, resplendent in the gold and purple costume of a caliph's favorite. She wore a harem veil that made it difficult for her to show that she was smiling and not expressing her real feelings. Her arms and ankles were bare, and her skin shone warm and tempting under the lights. Men looked at her and envied Noble Harwood.

Marion also wore gold and purple, but her costume was clearly distinguished from that of her step-mother, and while she was supposed to be an Arabian princess, she did not—because she would not—wear a harem veil.

Mrs. Daly wore the yellow costume of a Chinese queen, with a black wig and a sparkling crown. Her husband appeared as a Chinese philosopher; but the men silly referred to him in the corner as "the queen's cooie."

Sitting out one dance, having another with some elderly and extra courteous gentleman, was Mrs. Mary Farr Harwood. Noble and Laurel had diplomatically managed to be attentive elsewhere when she arrived, and she had been received by Marion alone. She wore the red silk of a harem wife, with veil.

At 11:15, the guests were summoned into a temporary glass house erected over the pool in the garden, and connected by glass passageways. There, in the heated water of the pool, rebuilt to resemble a harem bath, a troop of bathing girls disported themselves and did marvelous aquatic stunts, such as floating on the water in figures, group diving, racing, etc.

While the guests were being entertained here, an army of servants, led by the redoubtable Louis and the most expensive caterer in Chicago himself, transformed the library and ballrooms into royal dining-halls. Around the walls were a series of kitchens, each complete, and offering viands native to China, to India, to Egypt to Germany, to France, to Italy, to Spain, to Great Britain, to the United States—chop suey, curries, kraut, pae de foie gras, spaghetti, chili, roast beef, ham and eggs, in one grand profusion.

The guests, summoned to the feast, chose as they liked, and helped themselves. While they ate, and chatted, and visited, the two orchestras played music of the lands represented by the row of kitchens.

The feast continued until one-thirty o'clock. Then, after Noble had been anxiously pacing the floor for half an hour, with one ear upon the telephone, there was a wild honking of the horns of many autos in the yard, and the Folies company, freshly disembarked from airplanes after a perilous night ride from Chicago, swept into the house, chattering, awed, prostate. Half an hour later they were performing before the diners, kicking their heels, cracking their jokes; but not the usual carefree performers; they were as excited over all this as the guests.

Mrs. Mary Farr Harwood, moving to and fro as the crowd carried her, was a soul in torment. All of this glory might have been hers, she reflected. Noble had never essayed anything like this in her behalf. She found herself, against her will, trailing Laurel. She had an insatiable desire to watch every moment of her successor; and every smile bestowed upon Laurel gave her pain.

She heard nothing; ate nothing; she had eyes for no one or anything but Laurel Todd Harwood. Gentlemen, old friends, who approached her and attempted to be cordial, found her frigid, and soon found opportunities to leave her, and go and speak to their wives and companions about it.

While the Folies company was putting on its show before an audience already sated with dancing, food and entertainment, and therefore only courteously appreciative, Marion, her conscience hurting her a little, sought out her mother.

"Isn't it wonderful?" She was frightened by the gaze of Mrs. Harwood turned upon her. Slowly shaking her head, she spoke: "All for her, all for her!" Shaking her finger at her daughter, madness in her eyes, she went on, her voice rising, "All for her. And she doesn't love him. doesn't care anything about him."

Marion caught hold of her mother as she got up, straining. "No mother, dear, please." "She is ——" "No, mother, please." She could see the madness in her mother's eyes. Mrs. Harwood, after brooding for weeks, had broken.

"I am ——" Marion, terrified, clung futilely to her mother's costume.

Dodge Brothers' Penetrate Desert Of Central Asia

The Dodge Brothers car, which was the first to penetrate the Gobi Desert of Central Asia with the American Museum of Natural History expedition, has now added another bit of pioneering to its record by being the first automobile to enter the Kalahari desert in South Africa. The exploit is revealed in the following article from "The Cape Argus" of Cape Town, South Africa:

"Mr. C. H. Douglas, chief engineer of the Kalahari Expedition, returned to Pretoria today (Oct. 31). The expedition, he said, penetrated the desert for a distance of 300 miles. West and south of Livingston the country is very uniform, and the vegetation very similar. All the roads follow the courses of the rivers until the tsetse fly area is reached where the roads become nothing more than ill-defined tracks.

"The tsetse fly was more prevalent in areas where game abounded and appeared to follow the game. Despite the association of sleeping sickness with the tsetse fly, that disease was not prevalent in the area traversed by the expedition.

"A number of native tribes were encountered, and they were all of a friendly and peaceful disposition. Every variety of game was encountered, including elephants, giraffes and zebras.

"The expedition had no difficulty with transport, and the large Dodge Brothers screened car penetrated into regions where no mechanical transport had ever before been used. One of the achievements of this lorry was the traversing of a sand ridge.

"The expedition kept in touch with civilization by wireless, and they enjoyed concerts broadcast from the Johannesburg, Cape Town and Durban stations almost every evening."

One of the Rarest Things in the World.

The normal eye is one of the rarest things in the world today, because almost all eyes have some kind of defect in them. The normal eye has the proper length from the front to the back of the eye and receives clear images of objects without any strain or over-exertion of the delicate muscles in the interior of the eye.

The farsighted eye is shorter than the normal eye. Images of objects are not focused at a sharp point but a blurred image is formed. In order for the farsighted eye to see clearly, the muscles of the eye must work more than usual and this causes eyestrain.

The near-sighted eye is too long and the light focuses before it reaches the retina, in the back of the eye. This condition also requires extra work on the part of the eye muscles and causes strain.

It is easy to understand then, what will happen to the eyes and the general health if the farsighted and near-sighted eyes are not remedied. The extra work that the muscles of the eyes are required to do, to obtain clear images, causes a small defect to become larger and may cause a general debility.

Then it is not good logic to have your eyes—and especially your children's eyes, examined at the first sign of an eye defect? Most emphatically—YES!

Q. Is there opium in lettuce? T. F. C.

A. Lettuce belongs to the poppy family, but the amount of opium in lettuce is not appreciable. No amount of lettuce would produce drowsiness.

Q. How many Spiritualists are there in this country? W. M. S.

A. The National Spiritualist Association reports in the United States a membership of about 600,000.

Q. How many prizes were given at one time in the Louisiana lottery? C. G. B.

A. As the scheme was finally arranged, there were 3,434 prizes at each drawing.

Q. Where do Labrusca grapes grow? L. V.

A. The distribution of the Labrusca species of grapes is along the Allegheny mountains from New England to South Carolina.

Q. Is alcohol the hottest fuel? T. H. C.

A. It is not the hottest. Oxy-hydrogen and oxy-acetylene are hotter.

Q. Is clean, fresh, melted, snow suitable for use in storage batteries? C. S. A.

A. Rain water or that obtained from melting snow compares with tap water for batteries. Distilled water is far better.

Q. What was the basis for the Billy Mitchell trial? T. W. F.

A. Colonel Mitchell was charged with violating the 96th Article of War: "Though not mentioned in these articles all disorders and neglects to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, all conduct of a nature to bring discredit upon the military service, and all crimes or offenses not capital, of which persons subject to military law may be guilty, shall be taken cognizance of by a general or special or summary court-martial, according to the nature and degree of the offense and punished at the discretion of such court."

Q. When was ostracism introduced into Greece? E. E. C.

A. It was instituted by Cleisthenes about 510 B. C. Aelian says that Cleisthenes was the first to be ostracized.

Q. What kind of beans are used for sprouts in chop suey? L. E. O.

A. The bean that is used in making chop suey is the mung bean. In order to sprout these beans place them in a covered jar with a hole broken through the bottom. This jar should be placed on some sort of a support and water poured in it every morning and evening. In ordinary summer weather with this treatment the sprouts are large enough to use in about one-half week's time.

Q. When was the "big wind" in Ireland? T. R. B.

A. The big wind occurred in Ireland on the night of January 6, 1839. In Limerick, Galway, and Athlone, hundreds of houses were blown down and hundreds more were burned by the spreading fires from those blown down. It is called the "big wind" because it is the worst of its kind known to the people of Ireland.

Q. If "U" was made like "V" in the old alphabet, how was "V" made? L. P.

A. In the Latin alphabet, the vowel "U" (oo) and the consonant "U" (W or V) were both represented by the capital "V", and not until late in the 18th century was the form "V" restricted to the consonant element.

Q. Which of the Presidents had no children? R. S.

Dr. Cook Again

Dr. Frederick Cook and the famous North Pole controversy have long been considered settled. Now the issue bobs up again.

Amundsen, whose integrity nobody has ever impugned, who discovered the South Pole and nearly reached the North Pole by airplane, says he has read the accounts of both men and found them much alike, and about equally convincing. He seems rather to suggest that Cook reached the pole than that Peary did not.

Cook naturally takes advantage of that statement, issuing one of his own, in which he says that recent explorations in the Arctic, by MacMillan and Amundsen, have disproved many of Peary's observations.

"I note these facts in review," he says, "with no intention to underrate Peary's worthy efforts, but to indicate that a pioneer working under great difficulties is subject to some inaccuracies in his observations."

"It must be remembered that I was the first to report the physical conditions at the pole, and that all my work since has tended to confirm my reports. Rear Admiral Schley was the first to point out this phase of the rival claims." According to Schley's views, says Cook, either Cook or Peary, or both, reached the same place and described the same conditions.

This controversy will never be settled to everybody's satisfaction. Most people, presumably, will continue to believe that Peary reached the pole and Cook didn't. A large number of Americans, however, especially those who have talked with Cook or heard him speak, are convinced that if Cook never really attained the goal, he thought he did.

In any case, Cook's book on the subject is worth reading, as a work of imagination if not of science. There is a poetic glow in it that is rare in the works of more scientific explorers.

Cheap Wheat Production

It is doubtless true that many farmers have lost money on wheat in recent years, and are discouraged. But the following statement from a merchant in Dodge City, Kan., printed in the Bulletin of the National City bank of New York, shows another picture.

Wheat acreage is growing with astonishing rapidity in his section, he reports. In the next few years winter wheat will be sown on more than 10,000,000 acres of land still in sod in Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico and Texas. And this almost regardless of wheat prices. How is that possible?

The factor that has effected this situation is the tractor and the combine. Nowhere else on earth can the great bread staple be produced so cheaply. Hindoo coolies, at three cents a day, and Russian semi-serfs with hand labor, cannot compete with a farmer and two boys who, from May to October, with tractor and combine, can grow and harvest five or six hundred acres of wheat, eight to ten thousand bushels, and have time to summer-fallow a portion of their acreage, and as sidelines get their living from a flock of hens, and are raising corn and kaffir, cows and swine, to fall back on. The actual labor cost per wheat bushel certainly is less than 20 cents. The land is still cheap and half of it is still sod.

The tractor development is much slower than the automobile, but the new machines are almost fool proof and of course the farmers are year by year more adept with machinery. Many a man has put out 1,000 acres this fall, and put it out in the very best conditions that ever were known in the southwest.

"Now, these facts aren't generally apprehended even by people here. The farmers are finding it out and are picking up the cheap land in the neighborhood so as to give themselves elbow room."

"One young fellow reported to me that for five years his costs, with a harvester thresher, averaged less than five cents per bushel, including labor, gas, oil and repairs. The depreciation and interest charges would not add five cents per bushel more."

"Kansas is pretty well developed, but even southwest of Dodge, in four or five counties, 250 thousand acres of sod have been broken up this last summer."

This experience may be duplicated on a small scale in various other sections. There is a lot of unproductive land in nearly all of the states that may be made to produce paying crops by applying the same methods, with wheat and other crops. Here is new opportunity for untold thousands of enterprising farmers.

Punishment And Parole

Many prisoners are paroled in the province of Ontario, but apparently with fewer unpleasant results than in this country. The chief executive officer of the Ontario parole board announces that 86 per cent of the criminals so paroled make good and become re-established as honest citizens. Only 14 per cent fail when given a fresh chance at self-respecting freedom.

"For some criminals," says this official, "punishment should be quick and drastic. It has to be both to take effect on them, but for a large number it should be tempered with a sense of consideration. I do not believe it is possible by any means to re-establish all criminals, but many of them can be put back on their feet and made good, law-abiding citizens."

The parole system in this country as well as the whole treatment of criminals has come under strong public disapproval of late, chiefly because there does not appear to be any real discrimination between those who can be re-established and those who need the quick and drastic punishment.

Standardization of Gages.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—A saving to American manufacturers of at least one billion dollars of year is promised through the general use of new key to mass production. This key is the standardization of limit gages which has just been completed and approved by the American Engineering Standards committee.

It will make possible the largest output of goods at the lowest price and is of the greatest importance to manufacturers of machinery, vehicles, tools, electrical apparatus, and many other lines of products. When they all use the standard gaging system, parts made by any factory will fit corresponding parts manufactured in any other factory.

They "Charleston" for pitched pennies, open taxi doors and sell solid editions of yesterday papers. And at night under lights they gamble on the day's spoils with dice. They are young in years, but old in vice, and prim ladies are often shocked by their gutter language.

Their cast-off clothes and shoes give them a Charlie Chaplin appearance, baggy, ballooning pants, coat tails that flap below the knees and rolled up sleeves. One shirtless vagabond wears a necktie and another a lidless straw hat through the winter.

They have a carbonated gaiety that always attracts crowds, especially when they gamble. They have the usual New York street urchin's fear of the police and also the gangster's contempt, awaiting until a bluecoat is almost upon them, then scurrying away and thumbing their noses in backward derision.

The two leaders are red-heads. They rule the pack with swift socks on the jaw and in their gambling games display a fairness that is wholesome. Cafe men in the neighborhood say they do not know where they come from or where they sleep.

They appear around noon and are usually there long after midnight. Habits of the street say the little nomads of the Roaring Twenties never sleep. In the late afternoon they often curl up in protecting doorways to refresh themselves with sleep for the night to come.

Their life is whetted to a keenness on the city's flagstones. Robust men have whined over lesser ironies of fate. Like the line in Shelley's "Ode to the West Wind," they are "tameless, and swift and proud." They deserve something better.

A collector has salvaged this from the dead memoirs of an early New York club:

"New fangled glasses was fitted in the club windows, where before there was parchment. There was great to do over the change and one member said he would resign. A few which favor it say that these objectionable neglect to powder their wigs, and soap the wine stains off their waist coats, so that they cannot stand the light."

Five female stake stars have exploded in public in temperamental outburst the past season. One ordered the curtain down in the middle of the act. Such high flings amuse me. And I always think of one of Bernhardt's most tragic moments. She was leaving the room with a dead love and dead hopes and the last despairing gesture was a tightened hand gripping the door jamb as the rest of her had passed from sight. The audience was in convulsive gulps. An admirer saw her in this attitude one night. While she was conveying its despairing message, Bernhardt was saying: "Oh, is that you, Charlie? So glad you came. What a beastly hot evening!"

Raymond Hitchcock said it many years ago and it is true today. Nobody ever gets temperamental with a policeman.

The highest salaried actor during the past season was Jack Buchanan of Charlie's revue, who on a percentage of the gross basis averaged $3,300 a week. Marilyn Miller was the highest paid actress on the same basis, weekly averaging a bit higher. It does not mean they are the best performers. It means they had good business agents.

in which the workman in fashioning by hand one part to fit another endeavors to make it within a certain fraction of the required dimension, with a permissible plus or minus variation, or a variation in two directions. The other is based upon mass production and the repetitive process of automatic machinery. In this case the automatic machine is set to one limiting size and then permitted to run, the tool wearing all the time, until the other limiting size is reached, after which the tool must be reset or replaced. Under these conditions the permissible variation is thought of as being in one direction only, hence the name uni-lateral.

Great Britain, Germany, Austria, Sweden, Switzerland, and other important industrial countries have adopted standards for gaging and machine fits within the last few years, and in each instance there has been a considerable controversy as to whether the bi-lateral or the uni-lateral system should be used.

As indicative of the world trend toward mass production methods it is to be noted that the decision in every case has been in favor of the uni-lateral system.

"Madam Behave," Film At The American, Is Amusing Farce

Al Christie recently set the nation laughing at "Charley's Aunt," thereby disproving the old assertion that the English have no sense of humor, because Charley's Aunt has been an English farce for thirty-four years as Padhy's pig is Irish.

Then he turned to one of the greatest American stage farces which was ever written, "Seven Days," for his next feature length comedy strike.

Now he has made good for the allied cause by taking "Madam Behave," a French farce, and turning it into a seven-reel burst of hilarity with Julian Eltinge and Ann Pennington doing the wild spasms of gag situations which tickle the movie audience and make Greater Laugh Season a reality.

In "Madame Behave," which is now playing at the American, Eltinge is a cousin to Charley's Aunt," because he romps through the plot as a buxom lady, besieged and wooed by two aged suitors in the person of Lionel Belmore and Jack Duffy, while Eltinge himself is continually foiled in his pursuit of Ann. But how he wins her makes a delightful story.

The supporting cast is an unusually strong one. It includes among others Lionel Belmore, David James, Tom Wilson and Stanhope Wheatcroft.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, eroding so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sour, creating the distressing gas which distorts the stomach and hampers the action of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

In general, according to the report, a certain fit between two mating parts will be obtained by checking the size of each part by means of two gages, each representing one of the two limits between which the actual size of the part must be kept.

Go and Not-go Gages.

One of these gages is called the "go gage," while the other one is designated as the "not-go gage." If only those parts are accepted which are shown by these two gages to be correctly machined there will be positive assurance of perfect fitting.

"It is to be hoped that all manufacturers engaged in making products with interchangeable parts will adopt the new standard so that uniform national practice based on the best of knowledge may be reached and maintained," concludes Dr. Agnew.

"This will result in enormous savings in labor and material, which will permit production of any given part on the largest possible scale, and will serve the customer directly by permitting quick and certain replacement of worn or broken parts."

"In fact, it has been estimated that the general use of this new key to mass production will mean a saving of at least one billion dollars a year to American manufacturers."

There are two systems of gaging, one known as the bi-lateral and the other as the uni-lateral. The first is based upon individual workmanship,

Lisbon, O.New Accounting Plan
Explained to Members Of Township Boards

Miss Vivian Dowds, a former school teacher at East Liverpool, but now connected with the state bureau of inspection, presided at a meeting of township boards of education here yesterday.

Every township, with the exception of Washington, was represented at the session, which was called for the purpose of explaining the new system of accounting which all boards of education must immediately install.

Recently state examiners had a similar conference with township trustees and the township clerks.

New account books have to be purchased by all township boards of education, also blanks for these looseleaf systems. The idea of ordering such a system is for the purpose of keeping all boards on a "pay as you go" system. By the new system it can be told at a glance the balance in any fund, and whether or not there is sufficient money in a particular fund to permit additional expenditures. They also present an easy way to check up on all accounts, and by any one who may be interested in observing the records from time to time.

Miss Dowds recently completed an examination of the records of the township boards of education in this country.

The last legislature appropriated money for the purchase of the land, following an intensified campaign launched by the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association.

COMMISSIONER

These reports are to be made out on blanks provided for such purpose, and will be filed with council at its monthly meeting.

The suggestion that such reports be filed was made by Councilman Bert Burns, former county auditor. A record of materials hauled, what street repairs were made, or street cleaned will be made on these daily work sheets.

Colds That Develop Into Pneumonia

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimplies—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the subject for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Cook Again

Dr. Frederick Cook and the famous North Pole controversy have long been considered settled. Now the issue bobs up again.

Amundsen, whose integrity nobody has ever impugned, who discovered the South Pole and nearly reached the North Pole by airplane, says he has read the accounts of both men and found them much alike, and about equally convincing. He seems rather to suggest that Cook reached the pole than that Peary did not.

Cook naturally takes advantage of that statement, issuing one of his own, in which he says that recent explorations in the Arctic, by MacMillan and Amundsen, have disproved many of Peary's observations.

"I note these facts in review," he says, "with no intention to underrate Peary's worthy efforts, but to indicate that a pioneer working under great difficulties is subject to some inaccuracies in his observations.

"It must be remembered that I was the first to report the physical conditions at the pole, and that all my work since has tended to confirm my reports. Rear Admiral Schley was the first to point out this phase of the rival claims." According to Schley's views, says Cook, either Cook or Peary, or both, reached the same place and described the same conditions.

This controversy will never be settled to everybody's satisfaction. Most people, presumably, will continue to believe that Peary reached the pole and Cook didn't. A large number of Americans, however, especially those who have talked with Cook or heard him speak, are convinced that if Cook never really attained the goal, he thought he did.

In any case, Cook's book on the subject is worth reading, as a work of imagination if not of science. There is a poetic glow in it that is rare in the works of more scientific explorers.

Cheap Wheat Production

It is doubtless true that many farmers have lost money on wheat in recent years, and are discouraged. But the following statement from a merchant in Dodge City, Kan., printed in the Bulletin of the National City bank of New York, shows another picture.

Wheat acreage is growing with astonishing rapidity in his section, he reports. In the next few years winter wheat will be sown on more than 10,000,000 acres of land still in sod in Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico and Texas. And this almost regardless of wheat prices. How is that possible?

The factor that has effected this situation is the tractor and the combine. Nowhere else on earth can the great bread staple be produced so cheaply. Hindoo coolies, at three cents a day, and Russian semi-serfs with hand labor, cannot compete with a farmer and two boys who, from May to October, with tractor and combine, can grow and harvest five or six hundred acres of wheat, eight to ten thousand bushels, and have time to summer-fallow a portion of their acreage, and as sidelines get their living from a flock of hens, and are raising corn and kaffir, cows and swine, to fall back on. The actual labor cost per wheat bushel certainly is less than 20 cents. The land is still cheap and half of it is still sod.

"The tractor development is much slower than the automobile, but the new machines are almost fool proof and of course the farmers are year by year more adept with machinery. Many a man has put out 1,000 acres this fall, and put it out in the very best conditions that ever were known in the southwest.

"Now, these facts aren't generally apprehended even by people here. The farmers are finding it out and are picking up the cheap land in the neighborhood so as to give themselves elbow room.

"One young fellow reported to me that for five years his costs, with a harvester thresher, averaged less than five cents per bushel, including labor, gas, oil and repairs. The depreciation and interest charges would not add five cents per bushel more.

"Kansas is pretty well developed, but even southwest of Dodge, in four or five counties, 250 thousand acres of sod have been broken up this last summer."

This experience may be duplicated on a small scale in various other sections. There is a lot of unproductive land in nearly all of the states that may be made to produce paying crops by applying the same methods, with wheat and other crops. Here is new opportunity for untold thousands of enterprising farmers.

Punishment And Parole

Many prisoners are paroled in the province of Ontario, but apparently with fewer unpleasant results than in this country. The chief executive officer of the Ontario parole board announces that 86 per cent of the criminals so paroled make good and become re-established as honest citizens. Only 14 per cent fail when given a fresh chance at self-respecting freedom.

"For some criminals," says this official, "punishment should be quick and drastic. It has to be both to take effect on them, but for a large number it should be tempered with a sense of consideration. I do not believe it is possible by any means to re-establish all criminals, but many of them can be put back on their feet and made good, law-abiding citizens."

The parole system in this country as well as the whole treatment of criminals has come under strong public disapproval of late, chiefly because there does not appear to be any real discrimination between those who can be re-established and those who need the quick and drastic punishment.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Standardization of Gages.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—A saving to American manufacturers of at least one billion dollars of year is promised through the general use of a new key to mass production. This key is the standardization of limit gages which has just been completed and approved by the American Engineering Standards committee.

It will make possible the largest output of goods at the lowest price and is of the greatest importance to manufacturers of machinery, vehicles, tools, electrical apparatus, and many other lines of products. When they all use the standard gaging system, parts made by any factory will fit corresponding parts manufactured in any other factory.

They "Charleston" for pitched pennies, open taxi doors and sell soiled editions of yesterday papers. And at night under lights they gamble for the day's spoils with dice. They are young in years, but old in vice, and prima ladies are often shocked by their gutter language.

Their cast-off clothes and shoes find a home in Charlie Chaplin's arcolebaggy, ballooning pants, coat tails that flap below the knees and rolled up sleeves. One shirtless vagabond wears a necktie and another a ladies straw hat through the winter.

They have a carbonated gaiety that always attracts crowds, especially when they gamble. They have the usual New York street urchin's fear of the police and also the gangster's contempt, awaiting until a bluecoat is almost upon them, then scurrying away and thumbing their noses in backward derision.

The two leaders are red-heads. They rule the pack with swift socks on the jaw and in their gambling games display a fairness that is wholesome. Cafe men in the neighborhood say they do not know where they come from or where they sleep.

They appear around noon and are usually there long after midnight. Habits of the street say the little nomads of the Roaring Forties never beg. In the late afternoon they often curl up in protecting doorways to refresh themselves with sleep for the night to come.

Their life is whetted to a keenness that matches the flagstones. Robust men whined over lesser ironies of fate. Like the line in Shelley's "Ode to the West Wind," they are "tameless, and swift and proud." They deserve something better.

A collector has salvaged this from the dead memories of an early New York club:

"New Fangled glasses was fitted in the club windows, where before there was parchment. There was great to do over the change and one member said he would resign. A few which favor it say that these objects neglect to powder their wiggles, and soap the wine stains off their waist coats, so that they cannot stand the light."

Five female stake stars have exploded in public in temperamental outburst the past season. One ordered the curtain down in the middle of the act. Such high things amuse me. And I always think of one of Bernhardt's most tragic moments. She was leaving the room with a dead love and dead hopes and the last despairing gesture was a tightened hand gripping the door jamb as the rest of her had passed from sight. The audience was in convulsive gulps. An admirer saw her in this attitude one night. While the hand was conveying its despairing message, Bernhardt was saying: "Oh, is that you, Charlie? So glad you came. What a beastly hot evening!"

Raymond Hitchcock said it many years ago and it is true today. Nobody gets temperamental with a policeman.

The highest salaried actor during the past season was Jack Buchanan of Charlot's revue, who on a percentage of the gross basis averaged $3,309 a week. Marilyn Miller was the highest paid actress on the same basis, the weekly averaging a bit higher. It does not mean they are the best performers. It means they had good business agents.

Great Britain, Germany, Austria, Sweden, Switzerland, and other important industrial countries have adopted standards for gaging and machine fits within the last few years, and in each instance there has been a considerable controversy as to whether the bi-lateral or the uni-lateral system should be used.

As indicative of the world trend toward mass production methods, it is to be noted that the decision in every case has been in favor of the unilateral system.

"Madam Behave," Film At The American, Is Amusing Farce

Al Christie recently set the nation laughing at "Charlie's Aunt," there by disproving the old assertion that the English have no sense of humor, because Charlie's Aunt has been as English for thirty-four years as Paddington's pig is Irish.

Then he turned to one of the greatest American stage farces which was ever written, "Seven Days" for his next feature length comedy strike.

Now he has made good for the alibi cause by taking "Madam Behave," a French farce, and turning it into a seven-reel burst of hilarity with Julian Eltinge and Ann Pennington doing the wild spasms of gag situations which tickle the movie audience and make Greater Laugh a reality.

In "Madame Behave," which is now playing at the American, Eltinge is a cousin to Charlie's Aunt, because he romps through the plot as a buxom lady, besieged and wooed by two aged suitors in the person of Lionel Belmore and Jack Duffy, while Eltinge himself is continually foiled in his pursuit of Ann. But how he wins her makes a delightful story.

The supporting cast is an unusually strong one. It includes among others Lionel Belmore, David James, Tom Wilson and Stanhope Wheatcroft.

Correct this sentence: "Our little Mabel has a wonderful voice," said she, "but we never ask her to sing for guests."—Akron Beacon-Journal.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach. Instead get rid of the acid by taking a few ounces of Bisected Magnesia powder in tablet form. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

That's what S. S. S. has been doing for generations—helping Nature build rich, red blood! You can build red-blood-cells so fast that the impurities that cause breaking out on the skin hardly get into the system before the pure blood annihilates them—kills them right out—stops them from breaking out through the skin.

And then this rich, red, pure blood feeds and nourishes the tissues of the skin and keeps it looking healthy.

That's all there is to it. Healthy, vigorous, red blood such as S. S. S. helps Nature build, makes you healthy all over. It beautifies your skin—drives away pimples, blackheads, blotches, rash, boils and eczema—gives you back your appetite—builds firm, plump flesh and fills you full of new life and energy.

All drug stores sell S. S. S. Get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

Loosen Up That Cold With Musterole

Have Musterole handy when a cold starts. It has all of the advantages of grandmother's mustard plaster WITHOUT the blister. Apply it with the fingers. You feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Made of pure oil of mustard and other simple ingredients, Musterole is recommended by many nurses and doctors. Try Musterole for bronchitis, sore throat, stiff neck, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, croup, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back or joints, sore muscles, sprains, bruises, chilblains, frosty feet, colds of the chest. It may prevent pneumonia and "flu."

Lost A Million

When we read of some unfortunate speculation made by stock dealers or others, we wonder why people are so careless with their wealth; many of us to whom a million dollars is but a mythical sum, far beyond our reach, would no doubt hesitate before risking such an enormous wealth upon one throw. But the same is true with health; many there are today suffering from stomach troubles, indigestion, constipation, kidney and liver ailments, nervousness, rheumatism, sleeplessness, etc., who are just as careless and risky with their health as the plunger on the stock market is with his money.

With such a remedy as Ka-Di-Ok, the great herbal laxative stomach tonic and system builder, within reach of all who are in a run-down condition, suffering from the above ailments, there should be less suffering. Thousands have taken advantage of this medicine and have testified as to their restoration to health.

Mr. George Brown, R. F. D. No 1, Greensburg, Pa., says: For several years past I was bothered with rheumatism, lumbago and asthma with poor appetite, gas on my stomach and nervousness. I obtained the best results from Ka-Di-Ok, as nearly all my troubles have now left me.

New Accounting Plan Explained to Members Of Township Boards

Miss Vivian Dowds, a former school teacher at East Liverpool, but now connected with the state bureau of inspection, presided at a meeting of township boards of education here yesterday.

Every township, with the exception of Washington, was represented at the session, which was called for the purpose of explaining the new system of accounting which all boards of education must immediately install.

Recently state examiners had a similar conference with township trustees and the township clerks.

New account books have to be purchased by all township boards of education, also blanks for these looseleaf systems. The idea of ordering such a system is for the purpose of keeping all boards on a "pay as you go" system. By the new system it can be told at a glance the balance in any fund, and whether or not there is sufficient money in a particular fund to permit additional expenditures. They system also presents an easy way to check up on all accounts, and by any one who may be interested in observing the records from time to time.

Miss Dowds recently completed an examination of the records of the township boards of education in this county.

STATE PARK TITLE WILL BE FILED

Abstract of title to the 500 acres of land that will be used for state park purposes in Hanover township, near Guilford, are to be filed with the state highway department by March 1, according to word received in Lisbon Tuesday evening. The last legislature appropriated money for the purchase of the land, following an intensified campaign launched by the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association.

COMMISSIONER TO MAKE REPORTS

Because of a new order just issued by Mayor Robert B. Clark of Lisbon upon the authority of the village council, reports will hereafter be made out by the street commissioner of all work done daily. These reports are to be made out on blanks provided for such purpose, and will be filed with council at its monthly meeting.

The suggestion that such reports be filed was made by Councilman Bert Burns, former county auditor. A record of materials hauled, what street repairs were made, or street cleaned will be made on these daily work sheets.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—if You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimplies—a bullos look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

Order's Enrollment Increases to 600,000 in Two Years.

Benefits, growing out of membership with the Fraternal Order of Eagles, were discussed by George A. Strine, York, Pa., leading orator for the national organization, on an address before members of East Liverpool Aerie No. 457, in the Eagles' temple, Broadway, last evening.

Strine came here in the interest of a membership drive which is now in progress. The lodge seeks 500 new members. The first group of candidates to be initiated will be known as the C. H. Shone class in honor of the president of the local order.

A committee of lodgemem served refreshments at the conclusion of Strine's address. In part Strine said:

"The growth of the Fraternal Order of Eagles in the last two years from 450,000 to 600,000 members demands an explanation. Men, who never had any inclination to join a lodge, are finding reasons to join the F. O. E. Thousands of young men are joining because there is no place else where they can spend so few dollars for a never failing supply of friends and good times and then get the money back on the first rainy day. Married men and fathers of families are turning to the Eagles because of its protective attitude toward the home, and because of its excellent plan of life insurance."

1,700 Aeries Organized.

"Workingmen, by the hundred thousand and more, because this order has been in the past a potent advocate of workmen's compensation, and is now back of old age pensions. Business men and employers, in increasing number, are joining because of the business and professional advantage in having a wide acquaintance in all circles and because, as employers, they are beginning to recognize the justice of pensioning the worker who has grown too old and who has never been paid enough to allow him to save for a jobless old age. As employers they join to work for old age pension."

"The Fraternal Order of Eagles has 600,000 members who are affiliated with 1,700 lodges. The 'lodges,' however, are known among members as 'aeries,' a term meaning Eagles' nest. The first aerie was instituted in Seattle, Washington, in the winter of 1898. Since its organization 27 years ago, there has been paid out in sick benefits to our members $27,153,538, for funeral benefits $5,281,993, and for medical service $8,610,727—a total of $41,046,259. In these figures you have the brick and mortar of our fraternity. Added to this are individual and unrecorded charities without number, where the aerie has learned through the many channels of brotherhood of some member's special need and promptly met it out of other aerie funds."

Advocates Old Age Pensions.

"Our campaign for an old age pension act was begun three years ago when the grand aerie appointed a national old age pension commission and subsequently appropriated to its use the interest, amounting to a substantial number of thousands of dollars annually, on a permanent fund of the grand aerie. Three states now have old age pension laws. In 26 other states bills are now pending."

Rev. Mel Morris Tells Life Story At Baptist Church

A crowd which taxed the seating capacity of the First Baptist church, West Fifth street, heard Rev. Mel Morris of Greensboro, Md., tell the story of his life last evening.

When he undertook to build a Baptist church in Greensboro, his home city, a Modernist preacher, he declared, was employed in an effort to drive him from the community. The liquor he, charged, planned to take his life while other unfriendly interests made attempts to destroy his church by fire. Now, with the farmer membership of the church financially embarrassed by a crop failure, opposition interests are now seeking to foreclose the mortgage on the edifice.

The evangelist tonight will begin the second week of his two weeks campaign. His sermon subject will be "Repent or Perish."

Roy Barker, Toronto sewer pipe worker, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail by Judge Hanley this morning when he pleaded guilty to a non-support charge filed by his wife, Mrs. Alice Barker, of West Point. Barker was arrested by Court Bailiff Farman Hissam.

COUNTY'S MOST PERFECT GIRL IS NOW SOUGHT

Review-Tribune Conducts American Venus Contest.

PRIZES OFFERED

Mrs. Hazel Mast Will be Judge in Hunt.

HERE ARE VENUS MEASUREMENTS

Who is the most perfect physical specimen of young womanhood in Columbian county? The Review-Tribune wants to find out and for that purpose will conduct a carefully planned contest. The capital prize is a fine bronze statuette valued at $100. This statuette is a replica of the prize given to "Miss America" in the Atlantic City contest. It is now on display in the show window of Stein's dry goods store.

The contest is under the supervision of Mrs. Hazel Mast, Review-Tribune VENUS EDITOR, who asks each applicant record her own measurement corresponding to those of Miss Fay Lamphier hand or send the blank properly filled to The Review-Tribune Venus Editor. The contest is now open, but the closing hour is 9 o'clock February 10, so the winners can be announced in the February 10 issue.

There is no personal appearance or parading or photographs to furnish. Nor is it a beauty show. Every woman or girl is eligible to enter. This competition is for PHYSICAL PERFECTION, not beauty; but if two or more are tied for first place then grace of carriage or beauty of form may be a deciding factor.

The accompanying is a drawing of "Miss America," the American Venus of physical perfection who most nearly approaches the modern standards of measurements. Read her measurements and see how you compare.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE ANSWERED.

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain, granulated or sirup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The actual number of circles is still far short of the maximum number that may be organized. Cabell and Wyoming head the list, each reporting for January 31 ninety-four per cent of the maximum number. Kanawha reported 12 circles, three having 100 per cent enrollment, but its maximum number is not reported. Putnam county has 49 circles, which happened to be 49 per cent of its maximum; Fayette, 49 per cent; Boone, 37 per cent; Roane, 35 per cent; Jackson, with 82 per cent, is sixth in the list.

After my attack of Flu I was thin, run-down and weak. I had a sallow complexion, my cheeks were sunken and I was continually troubled with gas on my stomach. I felt stuffy and lost my appetite. I had read about McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets and decided to give them a trial. At once, I began to pick up an appetite, my cheeks filled out and my complexion became healthy looking and I gained 15 pounds in six weeks and am very thankful for what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for me.

Miss Alberta Rogers, 264 W. Cerro Gorda St. Decatur, Ill.

Dempsey Trains as Tunney Bout Begins to Look Like "Real Thing"

Skeptical boxing fans are beginning to believe that there's something to the reports that Jack Dempsey is going to fight Gene Tunney in August after all, with Tex Rickard preparing to stage the bout in New Jersey in defiance of edicts of the N. Y. boxing commission, and Dempsey engaging in light training at Miami, where he is vacationing with his two managers, Estelle Taylor, his wife, and Eddie Conner. Dempsey is seen with Estelle and Eddie in this new photo from Miami. Tunney also is in Florida.

Parisian Gowns Claim Miss Will's Attention

GILCHRIST MAY BE CONTENDER IN A. B. C. MEET

Forgot Racquets Yesterday Following Visit to Jean Patou's Shop and Came Within Ace of Scratching Matches.

NICE, Feb. 3.—Helen Wills' mind is far afield from tennis today, for it is firmly fixed upon one subject that can demand all of any woman's attention—clothes.

Miss Wills' first Parisian gowns have arrived and she is entirely absorbed in trying them all on.

Fortunately Miss Wills has no match scheduled for today, so she can devote her attention to the new frocks, but yesterday she came near being forced to scratch in the mixed doubles because her mind was on clothes.

Miss Wills spent yesterday morning in the shop of Jean Patou at Cannes trying on her new dresses. She arrived in Nice at noon with Walter Monney, of San Francisco, and discovered that she had left her racquets at Patou's in Cannes. She immediately telephoned a friend in Cannes and asked that the racquets be rushed to Nice. They came but 15 minutes before Miss Wills was scheduled to go on the courts with C. F. Aeschlimann in the mixed doubles.

"I became so absorbed in my first French dresses that I entirely forgot my racquets and unless I had them I couldn't play," Miss Wills said.

TUNNEY FLOUTS NEW YORK RING COMMISSION

GLOVE RULERS THREATEN TO KILL LICENSE

Gene Won't Fight in Gotham Anyway, Unless With Dempsey.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Indications today were that the New York state Athletic commission, self-elected dictator of all heavyweight championship controversies, may find itself master of none when the boys forget they are gentlemen and the title show-down comes, if ever. There happens to be a trio of men involved in the heavyweight championship situation and only three of them pay no attention to what the local board says, or does.

Gene Tunney, runner-up in the run-up to the title, is the latest heavyweight to flout the commission, which now threatens him with a non-renewal of his license. The young man, however, continues to bear up bravely in view of the fact that he doesn't want to fight here anyhow, unless his opponent is Jack Dempsey, which the broad insists cannot be.

The rest of the story, therefore, lacks popular interest as far as Tunney is concerned. Having a title shot in the immediate offering, he wouldn't meet John L. Sullivan's coachman in a New York ring until after the championship matter is settled one way or the other.

He made some sort of verbal agreement to box Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, here this month and it is this fact that has prompted the commission to issue its overt threats. It seems that Tunney is perfectly willing to fight Sharkey verbally and the event will take place three days after Battling Nelson swallows a door knob. Jack Delaney's challenge will be accepted immediately thereafter.

Our Mr. Dempsey, of course, has been out of balk here, so to speak, ever since he broke with the commission socially over a question of etching having to do with whether a gentleman ever is justified in leaving another holding what is vulgarly known as "the bag."

Run Out of Edicts.

He seems to be just as concerned as Tunney over the situation, or whatever it is. And the worst of it is that the commission seems to have run out of edicts. Dempsey has just about depleted those in stock and is using them for padding underneath the band of his hat.

Tunney, of course, can point with pride to the fact that he signed to meet Harry Wills and nothing came of it. He knew that nothing would both of these estimable citizens being imbued with the same ambition, to wit, a Dempsey match or nothing.

As for Wills, he might be termed the commission's fair haired boy, if the writer wasn't a realist. Yet Wills didn't hesitate to go over the commission's head in signing with Dempsey at Niles, Mich., and would do so again if the opportunity offers, while probably it won't. Wills isn't playing ball in New York, either.

Meantime, the commission is taking a fourth of driving Paul Berlenbach out of New York with an order to beat Mike McTigue all over again, just to make sure. Berlenbach cannot fight here until he decides with McTigue and he says there isn't a chance. This means that he, also, will soon be out of balk.

Simcox and Fox were the chief scorers for the West Virginians.

Plan Bond Issue For Fire Truck, Sewers And City Building Work

Council Acts Following of Proposed Increase in Insurance Rates by R. B. Crisswell of State Inspection Bureau.

Estimates of the cost of a new fire truck, repairs to the city hall building and construction of sewers at Seventeenth and Twentieth street will be made by city officials as the initial step in plans to issue bonds for an amount to cover all three projects, as a result of council action last night.

Order to compile the estimates was issued by solons following the announcement of a threatened increase in fire insurance rates by R. B. Crisswell, representative of the state inspection bureau; the report of council's city building inspection committee, and Mayor W. L. Fogo's approval of the sewer projects.

"We'll put on the bond issue, give the city these improvements which are absolutely necessary, and reduce taxes, too," asserted Mayor Fogo as the solons began their legislation.

Councilman W. C. Connor cast the only dissenting vote.

Unless the city takes immediate action to obtain fire protection, Wellsville can look for a boost in insurance rates of probably 10 per cent, declared Inspector Crisswell in a short but graphic talk to solons. Crisswell was in the city a short time ago and while here inspected the fire equipment, alarm system, water pressure and pipe lines.

"The chief engineer was here several years ago," said Crisswell, "looked over the fire equipment and warned the city to improve its fire fighting facilities. Nothing was done. The plea was always that they were going to do something. We've been put off several times. Now this is the fourth time I've been here."

"The water works was a mighty good start, but the fire equipment is deplorable and it will be big factor in the consideration of new insurance rates.

"Your fire alarm system is as good and perhaps better than those in cities much larger. There is no kick on it, nor on the source of your water, but in this latter respect, I will say, however, that you have all your eggs in one basket, in one place."

TENDER DINNER FOR NEWLYWEDS

Mr. and Mrs. Allan G. Woodward, newlyweds, were honor guests at a dinner served Monday night at 6 o'clock at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Woodward, in Center avenue.

The bride, formerly Miss Mildred Marie Snyder, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Snyder, of McKinley avenue, Salem, and a popular member of the younger social set of Salem and this city.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the local high school and was active in local school athletics.

After Feb. 8, Mr. and Mrs. Woodward will be at home to their friends at 1107 Center avenue.

DOMINICK YATTI FREED BY MAYOR

Dominick Yatti, who has been a prisoner in the city jail here since last Saturday night when he was arrested by police on two prohibition law charges following a raid on a vacant house in Commerce street, last night was a free man.

Friends of Yatti counted out $800, plus $20 costs, in a bundle of greenbacks on Mayor W. L. Fogo's desk last night and Yatti's cell doors swung open.

Yatti was charged with possessing alleged intoxicating liquor. Willard Davidson was arrested at his home, 447 Main street, at 1:30 o'clock this morning by Sheriff George Wright.

Wright confiscated a quantity of whisky. Davidson accompanied the sheriff's forces back to Lisbon. He was arraigned before Justice M. K. Zimmerman and fined $150. He paid and was released.

Sheriff Wright's party included Deputies Kindsvatter and Bourbon and Patrolmen Hurn and Pugh of the local force.

CHURCH PROTESTS POLE ERECTION

As a result of action of council last night the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. will suspend operations on the erection of three telephone poles adjoining the First Presbyterian church, River-view avenue.

Officers of the church recently accompanied to Mayor Fogo. Manager Frank L. Swaney, of the East Liverpool district, informed solons that the telephone company will be willing to make whatever adjustment is necessary.

SOLONS CREATE CITY HALL JOB

An ordinance creating the office of city hall policeman was passed last night by council.

The job will pay a salary of $900 a year. The duties of the incumbent will be defined by the Service-Safety director and will not be included in the classified list. The ordinance was passed as an emergency measure.

Attention of solons was called to the proposed sewer extension from the Johnson place. It was pointed out that 14 more homes are depending on the construction of the sewer there. The matter was referred to the service director.

SURPRISE PARTY AT WILSON HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wilson entertained a number of their friends last night at their home in Hillcrest, the affair taking the form of a surprise party for the former, in honor of his birthday anniversary.

Music, games and other diversions constituted the program. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Wilson, places being laid for 65 guests.

"You should have ordinances for fire protection, to prohibit combustible roofs, to create business district fire limits, to install flue linings and matters of such nature."

"I'm not trying to scare you—just to let you know what we're doing."

There is a decided lack of firemen. The force, as it is, is fine, but there should be more men on duty at night, men who could sleep there and have other regular employment during the day. It is not the day alarm that worries us—it's the alarm that comes in at 2 or 3 in the morning, and there should be enough men on hand to jump right in at the start and make a great big black spot on that fire.

All of your water is coming in at the north end. You should plan to run pipes toward the west end and establish a reservoir there. I'd recommend that you take up the old pipe around the pump house for this purpose. Water pipe lines cross at Third and Broadway, Twelfth and Center and at other points, yet there is no "tie-in" at any of these places. And nobody, apparently, knows anything about the lines in the west end. All these things are considered in the adjustment of insurance rates.
